Democrats Will Try To Push for LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic senators mapped an ambitious legislative program in a caucus today, agreeing they will seek to push through most of President Johnson's requests prior to their party's national convention opening Aug. 24.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the party caucus agreed to hold lengthy Senate sessions, including meetings on Saturdays, in an effort to wind up the present session of Congress prior to the Democratic convention.

Listed for action Wednesday is the controversial $962.5-million anti-poverty program which came out of the Senate Labor Committee over opposition from Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz.

National Crime Rate Increases, Four a Minute

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 2.5 million serious crimes—four a minute—were reported in 1963 as the national crime rate continued a relentless climb, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

The 10 per cent increase and a high percentage of criminal repeaters prompted Director J. Edgar Hoover to renew his call against what he called excessive leniency which tends to "ignore the victim and obscure the right of a free society to equal protection under the law."

Crime has increased five times faster than the national population since 1958, the FBI said in its annual report. Hoover said the cost of crime now is conservatively estimated at $27 billion annually.

In 1963, there was a murder every hour, a forcible rape every 32 minutes and an assault every four minutes.

Crimes against property were primarily responsible for the crime rate increase, jumping by 11 per cent.

Murders and rapes mounted by 1 per cent, assaults 6, larceny 13, auto theft 11, burglary 9 and robbery 5.

The FBI statistics showed that:

—The crime increase was sharpest in the Northeastern states—13 per cent—and lowest in the North-Central states at 6 per cent.

—The value of stolen property in 1963 exceeded $785 million. Police recoveries cut the property loss to 46 cents per dollar.

—The year brought 8,500 murders, 91 per cent solved by arrests.

Russians Seize U.S. Grain Ship

Treat Crew Like Animals: Captain

PORT SAID, U.A.R. (AP)—The captain of a U.S. freighter which took American grain to the Soviet Union says armed Soviet sailors commandeered his ship in international waters and held it for five hours.

"I was ordered off my own bridge at gunpoint," Capt. Arthur H. Fertig told reporters Sunday after docking here. "We were treated like animals."

He said the Russians fired warning cannon volleys over his ship, boarded it, confined the crew to quarters and conducted a search.

Happened Wednesday
The incident occurred last Wednesday outside the Black Sea port of Novorossiysk after Fertig refused to pay what he considered an excessive charge for unloading the cargo.

His ship, the tanker Sister Kalingo, had unloaded 32,000 tons of American grain. Fertig said the payment procedure had been guaranteed by a U.S.-Soviet agreement.

The seizure followed 20 tense days which came to a head when Fertig chose to pay stevedores $3 per hour per man for unloading the cargo. The Russians demanded 50 cents a ton.

Refused Order
Fertig, 44, of Wading River, N.Y., said his ship was halted by Soviet patrol boats outside the harbor and ordered to return to port, but he refused.

The Russians searched the ship thoroughly, then let her leave after Fertig signed a long-hand statement in Russian which was not translated to him.

River Pirates Escape When They Dive Into Water

The whereabouts of two river pirates who allegedly abandoned one stolen boat and took another from Lou's Boat Basin at Eddyville early this morning remains a mystery. The last they were seen was when they jumped overboard from the boat taken from the Eddyville boat basin and struck out for the Esopus shore of the creek.

A search of the area later by deputy sheriffs failed to disclose any trace of the pair.

At about 2 a. m. today Louis Roberti, proprietor of the marina, was aroused by an unusual noise. On investigating he observed two boys apparently about 15 or 16 years of age in the act of taking a boat. He aroused his son and armed with a shotgun took off after them. Although they were outrunning

AT SCENE OF THRUWAY CRASH—Four persons were injured Saturday afternoon in a highway accident which occurred on the State Thruway near Mile Post 79, about 12 miles south of Kingston, Town of Rosendale. A spokesman for Doctor's ambulance said Mrs. Hannah Levy, 55, of 175 West 73rd Street, New York City, and Mrs. Rose Leichtman, 52, of 1312 East 21st Street, Brooklyn, were taken to Benedictine Hospital. Mrs. Levy suffered a fractured left leg and back injuries. Mrs. Leichtman's injuries were not immediately determined. The ambulance spokesman said two men, Adam Hern, of New York City, and Mrs. Leichtman's husband, were taken to the hospital by automobile. The four injured were removed at 10 p. m. Saturday from the local hospital to University Hospital on 34th Street, New York City. No details of the accident were available. Ambulance attendants James Sills and George Dohnken prepare injured for ambulance stretcher.

IBM to Hire 1,000 More In Fishkill

Changes in plans of International Business Machines Corp. in the Poughkeepsie area and Town of East Fishkill, anticipates employing about 1,000 additional workers by the end of 1964, according to William J. Mair, resident vice president of the corporation.

Mair said, "The demand for our new products has exceeded expectations. Sales are going well and we are hiring more people than we expected to." The corporation executive stated that IBM hired 500 new employees from Jan. 1 to the present and expects to employ several hundred more persons during the remainder of this year.

Not Replacements
None of the total of new employees is classed as replacements.

Mair confirmed that personnel at the Kingston plant now totals 4,532 but that employment in the Ulster County plant fluctuates to some extent. He stated that employment figures in Kingston for some time have averaged about 5,000.

Mair said that while in April the total personnel at the Poughkeepsie plant, in leased facilities and at the East Fishkill Components Division plant was expected to remain at 12,000 for some time, "our present census" shows the total will be 13,000 by the end of the year.

1,200 Now Employed

A spokesman of the East Fishkill Components Division plant, where three shifts are employed, confirmed that 1,200 persons now are employed there compared to the approximately 500 engaged in the Southern Dutchess operations shortly after the first 100,000 square foot building was in full use last fall.

County Has 17th Fatal On Roads

State Total High With 42 Deaths

Ten persons, including four who died in traffic accidents in Ulster County, were among 42 New York State and area residents who lost their lives in various accidents over the weekend.

The toll was one of the highest for a weekend this year in the state as well as the Ulster County area.

Ulster County recorded its 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th highway fatalities. Dutchess County registered its 29th traffic death.

In addition, there were four area deaths by drowning and one woman died after a fall in her home.

The dead were:

Joseph J. Grosso Jr., 27, of Rock Cut Road, Newburgh, a Korean War Veteran, and Frank William LeCicere, 20, of South Putt Corners Road, New Paltz, RD, killed when the late model sport car they were in flipped and struck a tree, utility pole and guide wires Sunday evening on Route 44-45 about a mile and a half west of Route 32 near Modena in the Town of Gardiner.

Miss Jacqueline Ann Fitzpatrick, 19, of 116 Ravine Avenue Yonkers, died on arrival at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, after a one-car accident early Sunday on New Prospect Road, Town of Shawangunk.

Alan Van Cort, 19, of 49 Rock City Road, Woodstock, died early Sunday of injuries suffered in another sport car crash early Saturday on Library Lane, Woodstock.

Mary A. Lewis, 75, of 175 Peak Road, Stone Ridge, fatally injured when she fell down a flight of stairs Saturday in her home.

Philip Plummer, 34, of Gardiner, Maine, struck by a car while walking along Route 22 Sunday night in Dutchess County.

Harry Decker, 46, of 142 Pine Street, Poughkeepsie, drowned Sunday while swimming in Kay's Lake near Pleasant Valley.

Joseph Martino, 42, of 42 Bement Avenue, Poughkeepsie, also drowned at Kay's Lake while on a family picnic Saturday.

Donald Durkin, 6, of 11 Meadow Street, Kingston, drowned Saturday in Rondout Creek while swimming at a sandy beach near Eddyville.

Eugene Floyd Auchmoody, 7, of Maybrook, drowned Saturday in the Otterkill Creek while on a picnic with his family in Orange County.

Thousands Are Out
The zooming death toll came on a hot and sticky weekend during which thousands of New Yorkers took to the roads and to the waterways to find comfort.

In the period from 6 p. m. Friday to Sunday midnight, 24 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents. Fourteen others were drowned and the death count reached four for other types of mishaps.

Harlem Riots Run To Sunday Morning

NEW YORK (AP)—Violence flared again in Harlem Sunday night, with police the targets of jeering mobs and missiles hurled from tenement roofs in racial rioting that began Saturday night and raged into Sunday morning.

Helmeted police still patrolled the area today, but they said "tension has lessened a great deal."

Sunday night, three civilians were treated at hospitals for gunshot wounds. Twelve patrolmen were injured by flying objects.

Also injured were a white television cameraman and several other newsmen.

Score Arrested

A score of persons were arrested. The initial outburst followed protest rallies over the fatal shooting of a Negro boy by a white policeman. The violence left one man shot to death, 132 arrested, and more than 100 injured, including a dozen patrolmen.

The new flareup followed funeral services Sunday evening for 15-year-old James Powell, slain last Thursday by police Lt. Thomas Gilligan, who said he fired when the boy came at him with a knife.

Throughout the Sabbath, Negro leaders, in speeches and in conferences with police and city officials, had demanded Gilligan's arrest.

Both Leaders Boomed

The Negro leaders—including James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, and Bayard Rustin, leader of last year's civil rights march on Washington—urged Negroes to stay home Sunday night. Both men were booed at a rally when they called for non-violence.

Before the funeral services, police sealed off a 57-block area in the center of Harlem. Outside the funeral home, a crowd of about 500 gathered. Inside was a capacity crowd of 150 mourners.

About the time funeral services were under way, bottles and other missiles began crashing in the street. Patrolmen, waving nightsticks, began charging into crowds that poured from behind police barricades.

The Negro killed Saturday night was identified through fingerprints as Jay Jenkins, 41, an ex-convict with a record of 10 arrests, police said. They said he had been standing on the roof of a four-story building hurling bricks.

Harlem has been in recent turmoil over tenement conditions, Negro charges of police brutality and inadequate schools.

Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy issued an appeal to be read in Harlem churches at Sunday services calling for "calm, lawful action."

Unprovoked attacks against police, Murphy said, "have been met by swift and necessary police action."

During the Saturday night battle, police ran out of ammunition and boxloads of shells had to be rushed in from the Bronx. The trucks carrying the ammunition were protected by a pair of men armed with a shotgun and a machine gun.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm, public relations man for the department, blamed the riots on "rowdies." He said they had the same purpose—looting—and the same excuse—alleged police brutality—as Harlem rioters in 1935 and 1943.

Puppet Act Induces Laughs-But Not from the Audience

EDITOR'S NOTE—Television viewers have learned to love and laugh at Ens. Chuck Parker, the bumbling, self-confident officer of ABC's "McHale's Navy" comedy series. Tim Conway, who plays the part, is an amusing fellow on his own time. Our television columnist denies asking any star, ever, for his most embarrassing moment, but if Tim wants to get into his anecdote on the wings of that device, she'll go along.

By TIM CONWAY
(For Cynthia Lowry)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of the questions television columnists always ask is "What was your most embarrassing moment?" I've had my share, especially since becoming involved with the "McHale's Navy" gang.

But after more or less sober reflection, I think the topper was what my good friend Ernie Anderson and I refer to as "the hair job."

Ernie and I had worked together for three years at KYW-TV in Cleveland—he as staff announcer and I as director of promotion spots. On the side we wrote comedy-type commercials, but most of our time was spent in telling each other that the public deserved to see us on our own show.

Ready for Audition
Finally, we got a program developed and ready—we thought—for an audition. We were working for Channel 3, so we shrewdly approached Channel 5 with our idea. We figured that if Channel 3 heard about it and fired us, Channel 5 would hire us out of sympathy.

The format was a 15-minute hand puppet show with snappy jokes. We set up the audition for a Friday at 5 o'clock, wrote a seven-page script, and rehearsed it for a week. But we didn't rehearse with puppets. We couldn't afford them.

At last the big day came. Ernie and I prepared to make history. There was no stage for the puppet show, so we draped a tablecloth over two chairs and sat on the floor. For puppets, we glued hair on the backs of our hands and drew eyes on our fingers.

Unforeseen Problems
At 5 o'clock we were joined by one tired cameraman, unhappy about working overtime, and five ad agency men, disgruntled about working martini time.

With the seven pages of script joining us on the floor, our hands stretched above our heads, we set out to convulse our audience. However, since we hadn't rehearsed our "hand" puppets, unforeseen problems came up. They happened all at once, but in the interest of clarity I'll list them numerically:

1. Since we had all four hands in the air we discovered—at the end of the first page—that there was no way to turn the pages. After a moment of panic, I sucked up a page with my mouth and blew it away. This didn't help the delivery of the comedy line I was involved in at the moment.

2. For men in our physical condition, it was cruel and unusual punishment to keep hands over our heads after the first two minutes.

Laugh at Own Jokes
3. The pain, and the business with the page turning, induced hysterical laughter—not from the audience, but from us. The kind of laughter that's a substitute for screaming. At the end of five minutes we were in an agony of hilarity. The last 10 minutes I mercifully don't remember.

When we were finished—and I mean exactly that—the cameraman was still unmoving. The agents mumbled that maybe a more efficient set and a few weeks at the YMCA would help the act, and left hastily.

We swept up the scattered script pages and tossed them into the wastebasket before we left for the bar. I can still see our hairy hands wrapped around those beer glasses. They didn't look pretty, but at last they seemed to know what they were doing.

New Marx Brothers

David Rose Happy About Success of Beatles in Movie

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Beatles are a big hit in their first movie—critics call them the new Marx brothers—and no one is happier than movie composer David Rose.

Rose is a serious musician noted for his lush use of strings. Until the Beatles' reviews came out, Rose thought maybe he had approached music from the wrong direction.

"I went up to my teen-age daughter's room the other day," he says. "The walls were plastered with pictures of the Beatles."

"There were no pictures of me. Worse, there were none of my albums in her record collection. What does a father do in a situation like that?"

"I'm glad the Beatles are successful as movie stars. Maybe now they'll get out of the music business."

Oddly, Rose's biggest hit was an out-of-character number as noisy as the Beatles.

"When MGM made 'Sweet Bird of Youth,' with Paul Newman and Geraldine Page a few years ago, the song 'Ebb Tide' was used as background music," he said.

"MGM Records asked me to record it, which I did. It was expected to be a hit. It wasn't, but the other side of the record is my all-time big seller—'The Stripper.'"

How that came about is one of those showbusiness mistakes that bombering into big money.

"After 'Ebb Tide,'" Rose recalls, "I had to leave the country for awhile. The company wanted the record on the market fast so somebody—I later heard it was an office boy—went through some of my old tapes for a fill-in recording for the flip side."

"The Stripper" was some background music I had composed for a television show of the old play "Burlesque." I had forgotten about it. The office boy liked it and put it on the other side of "Ebb Tide." It's still selling and my last figure had it past the three-million mark.

"Isn't it ironic that I made a reputation with strings, should get my g... from some honky-tonk, brassy, loud, drum-beating song?"

"Maybe the Beatles have the right idea after all."

Sell Astor Estate At Rhinebeck for Teen Girls Haven

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (AP)—The 100-acre Astor estate on the Hudson River has been sold for a reported $165,000 and will be used as a haven for homeless girls and unwed mothers.

Purchaser of the property that includes a 30-room Georgian mansion is Teen Challenge, a religious organization founded in 1959 to deal primarily with narcotics addiction among teenagers.

The estate has been in the Obolensky family since colonial days. It was sold by Ivan Obolensky, a book publisher and grandson of the late Lady Ribblesdale and Col. John Jacob Astor.

Teen Challenge was founded by the Rev. David Wilkerson, a minister of the Assemblies of God, an evangelical sect that claims one million members.

New Marx Brothers

David Rose Happy About Success of Beatles in Movie

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Beatles are a big hit in their first movie—critics call them the new Marx brothers—and no one is happier than movie composer David Rose.

Rose is a serious musician noted for his lush use of strings. Until the Beatles' reviews came out, Rose thought maybe he had approached music from the wrong direction.

"I went up to my teen-age daughter's room the other day," he says. "The walls were plastered with pictures of the Beatles."

"There were no pictures of me. Worse, there were none of my albums in her record collection. What does a father do in a situation like that?"

"I'm glad the Beatles are successful as movie stars. Maybe now they'll get out of the music business."

Oddly, Rose's biggest hit was an out-of-character number as noisy as the Beatles.

"When MGM made 'Sweet Bird of Youth' with Paul Newman and Geraldine Page a few years ago, the song 'Ebb Tide' was used as background music," he said.

"MGM Records asked me to record it, which I did. It was expected to be a hit. It wasn't, but the other side of the record is my all-time big seller—'The Stripper.'"

How that came about is one of those showbusiness mistakes that bomberang into big money.

"After 'Ebb Tide,'" Rose recalls, "I had to leave the country for awhile. The company wanted the record on the market fast so somebody—I later heard it was an office boy—went through some of my old tapes for a fill-in recording for the flip side."

"The 'Stripper' was some background music I had composed for a television show of the old play 'Burlesque.' I had forgotten about it. The office boy liked it and put it on the other side of 'Ebb Tide.' It's still selling and my last figure had it past the three-million mark."

"Isn't it ironic that I, a composer, made a reputation with strings, should get my big hit from some honky-tonk, brassy, loud, drum-beating song?"

"Maybe the Beatles have the right idea after all."

IDEA STOCKS

Investors who buy stocks for capital gains should stress ideas and not statistics. Most equities promising long-term appreciation are under economic clouds, and a study of the story behind the clouds can often be revealing. For 30 years, I have been buying such "idea equities" with part of my money. I never buy such stocks for capital appreciation unless the corporations are having trouble.

South's Discard Was Important

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The writer of a bridge book has an easier time than the writer of a column. If you don't think so, look at this hand from Fred Karpin's book on decisions at trick one.

East's queen of clubs held the first trick and South made the mistake of playing the seven spot instead of the jack. South won the heart return and cashed three top spades and three top hearts. Neither suit broke, so South led his jack of clubs. West did not cover with the king and South wound up going down one trick.

Fred points out that if South had dropped his jack of clubs under East's queen, he would have had no trouble making his contract in spite of the bad suit breaks.

The lesson Fred teaches is worth-while. South surely should have thought and then dropped the jack of clubs, but South should have made the hand any way.

After his jack of clubs held, South could simply have played ace and another diamond. If East won the trick, he would be able to take a spade and a heart, but would have to concede the last trick to dummy's ace of clubs.

If East dropped the jack on the first diamond play, West would have been able to cash three diamond tricks, but would still have had to give dummy the last club trick.

I shall illustrate: Allis-Chalmers was one of the big corporations fined for price-fixing. Earnings fell off and dividends were reduced. The price of the stock went from $40 a share to $13. Many services recommended its sale.

Then the company bought 144,400 shares of its own stock at about $15 a share. In the face of discouragement, I bought a lot of the stock on the scale down at $15 to $13 a share. It had a solid book value of $33 a share.

This company purchase was the "idea" behind my purchase. It is now $21 a share and I am still buying it. A second idea stock was J. I. Case. The company, with very large bank loans, suffered losses over a period of time. The youthful president was kicked out. And a senior partner of a top-ranking Wall Street investment banking firm became the chief financial officer of Case.

I asked him: "Would you have entered this situation if you had not thought that the company could be financially resuscitated?"

His answer was that my statement was valid. The $7 cumulative preferred, paying nothing, went to $45 a share and the common sank to around $5 a share.

A new president was brought in. He was granted an option to buy 120,000 Case common shares at $7.19 a share. I wrote a score of conservative speculators: "This option isn't worth a dime unless and until the new officers revise the company."

The $7 cumulative preferred has gone from $45 a share to $133 and the common from $5 to $19.

Thus, one can see that ideas are frequently more valuable to investors than statistics. The fluctuating fortunes of many corporations produce "idea-values" the investors desiring capital gains rather than dependable income should buy.

Most brokers have such ideas. And investors should search out such brokers. I own a dozen "idea stocks" right now. There is an interesting story behind each of them.

They must be equities representing corporations with a good long-term potential. Again, they should be under a temporary economic cloud which well explains their unpopularity.

Westinghouse Electric is such a stock. It is the second largest electrical equipment company in the world. As this is written, the stock is being dumped at $30 a share.

United Fruit is another "idea" stock. The company bought 426,000 shares of its own stock at an average cost of $25.75 a share. Today, it can be bought at $21 1/2 a share. The company has a paper loss of over $1,600,000 on the shares it purchased.

For any speculator wanting to buy a lot for a little, Hotel Corporation of America at $3 a share is a purchase. The family controlling the corporation recently bought 150,000 additional shares.

"Idea" stocks are admirable values to buy for capital appreciation.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 20, 1964

HOME-CENTERED OFFICE

Science may yet provide a solution to city congestion, rush-hour traffic and the scramble that comes when too many people try to get to downtown jobs at the same time. The solution may lie, not in better ways to handle traffic, but in ways to avoid having traffic at all.

This conundrum is not as difficult as it sounds. The traffic problem may simply be by-passed by arranging for many workers to be able to stay at home and do their work at long range. As a starter, executives may be able to keep in touch with one another via two-way TV communication and data processing machines.

This possibility is raised by William L. Libby Jr., a doctoral candidate at the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business. "The only reason to go to work," says Libby in what seems like a burst of over-simplification, "is face-to-face conversation." He says that people thus conversing can sense each others' unspoken attitudes, but he adds that this could be done with closed-circuit television.

Employees could live anywhere, says Libby, with pay based on performance rather than hours spent at work. He foresees that shopping also could be done by televiewers, with salesmen and buyers doing business without leaving home.

That might go a long ways toward solving the traffic problem, all right. But has Libby considered all the implications? If a man stayed at home all day he would have to be isolated from his wife or she would not be convinced he was really working and would want him to go to the store for a loaf of bread or to drop off a dress at the cleaners. And how could he survive without those office coffee breaks?

KIDDING ON THE LEVEL

The precocious political plans of some Massachusetts teen-agers appear to have been nipped in the bud.

The youngsters—including a girl—decided to run for the state's House of Representatives on the basis of a loophole they found in the law which neglected to place an age limitation on independent candidates.

But the Massachusetts secretary of state has dug up a 1919 ruling which says that "only members of the electorate, those of voting age, can serve in elective office."

In other words, the kids could conceivably be elected but couldn't take office—not for five years, anyway.

State officials have been notably ill-humored about the whole thing, regarding it as a particularly embarrassing bit of teen-aged prankishness. (One of the boys, though, claims he just wanted to dramatize the deficiency in the law so that it could be rectified.)

In view of all the concern these days over teen-age morality, vandalism, lack of purpose and so on, it seems these kids ought to be praised rather than censured for taking such an active interest in politics.

How many grownups have ever studied their state statutes? How many don't even bother to vote?

LET'S LOOK IT UP

The dictionary is useful in numerous ways. One of them is the almost unique service it performs for the ego.

Most of us get into disputes from time to time about the pronunciation or meaning of words. Few things are more gratifying than to interrupt such a dispute with the classic challenge, "Let's look it up"—and then triumphantly to quote the dictionary in support of one's position.

There's just one little thing: the challenger runs the risk of finding—and having to admit—that the other fellow was right. In which case the dictionary performs another service for the ego by deflating it to manageable size.

If the Shoe Fits

BOSTON—It is a piece of rare good luck to come upon George Nickerson and the discovery he made 150 years ago. For some reason we do not fully understand, evidence from last year or the year before never helps your argument as much as an event whose anniversary is divisible by 50.

But it explains why school children are made to read the works of Julius Caesar instead of the letters of Warren G. Harding, even though he was an American.

Anyway, in 1814, George Nickerson, a Boston shopkeeper, had a heated discussion with his wife and afterward took tracings of his feet to his cobbler.

Nickerson's diary does not record the argument he had with his wife. But for the first time in this country there was a left shoe and a right shoe. Until that time, as far as we can discover, both shoes were made on the same last as it did not matter if the shoe was on the other foot.

Now, we are not nominating this invention or its inventor for a national monument. In the first place, we feel it is unreasonable to suppose that Nickerson was the first man in American history whose left foot was shaped differently from his right. But even if it were true (these things have to start someplace) the type of monument required would not add much to a public park.

And in the second place, his idea did not catch on for another 35 years, long enough for many people to have made the same discovery independently.

But we do think Nickerson is worthy of considerable honor for having noticed that there was a difference between his left foot and his right foot, thus making it much more comfortable for a man to put his foot down and a whole lot easier to follow in great men's footsteps.

This, we think, is a really basic discovery and not to be compared with the law of gravity, say, as Newton did not notice it until it hit him on the head. But what makes Nickerson's discovery truly great is the fact that he noticed the difference whereas his cobbler did not.

Well, it is quite easy to find examples of this sort in history, although not always with anniversaries divisible by 50.

We can, however, cite the case of William Banting, an obese London undertaker whose wife drove him from doctor to doctor in an effort to find a way to reduce.

Exactly 100 years ago this summer, his latest doctor went to Scotland on vacation, freeing Banting to discover the reducing diet named after him in the dictionary—no starches, no sugars and lots of meat, fish and vegetables.

We do not find it important that both of these great discoverers had trouble with their wives. Everybody knows that mother is the necessity of invention.

The deeper truth, we feel, is that you cannot expect anything different from a shoemaker who sticks to his last.

Hypertension in Family? Keep Salt Intake Low

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Just as you may toss salt over your shoulder for luck, you should pass up the salt shaker for health.

An adult should get about one gram of salt a day, but most of us nearer 10 grams a day. Doctors have long thought that an excess of salt causes high blood pressure. Recent studies now appear to support this idea.

Eskimos of Alaska get less than three grams a day and show no tendency to high blood pressure but in Japan where the salt intake is higher even than in the United States (about 26 grams a day) the incidence of hypertension is about four times as great as it is here.

A curtailment of salt intake is now believed to be even more important than a cutting down on calories because a slight reduction without salt restriction will not lower the blood pressure. There is apparently a hereditary factor at work also because some persons who regularly take in large amounts of salt do not develop high blood pressure.

The moral of this story is that, in a family in which several members have developed hypertension, the salt intake should be limited to the body's minimal needs in childhood. Waiting until your child comes of age before restricting his salt intake is likely to prove futile because it is applied too late.

Q—Our 6-year-old daughter recently had a boil. What causes boils? Can we do anything to prevent a recurrence?

A—Boils are caused by the common infection germ, the staphylococcus. The best prevention is frequent washing of the hands by all members of the family with a soap that contains hexachlorophene. This is especially important after touching the nose or going to the toilet. It is also wise to scrub toilet seats, washbowls, and bathtubs frequently with the same antiseptic soap. Changing the underwear daily also helps. If recurrent boils develop in spite of these precautions, your doctor may want to use one of the newer antibiotics such as oxacillin, which can be taken by mouth.

Q—Since when are doctors using carbonated soft drinks to cure a baby's indigestion? Does it really help?

A—Carbonated soft drinks will often be taken by a baby or small child when other fluids are not. In situations where it is essential to get the baby to take fluids, they are of value, but there is no advantage in such carbonated drinks if the child will take sufficient fluid in other forms.

LUNG CANCER FACTS

Publication of research findings, especially of the surgeon general's report last January, has focused intense light on an apparent link between lung cancer and cigarette smoking. There is widespread awareness that the number of lung cancer deaths is six times higher than it was two decades ago.

These disheartening facts are tempered somewhat by the disclosure of Mayo Clinic surgeons that there also has been a notable rise in the percentage of lung cancer patients "cured"—that is, enabled to survive for five years or more—by surgery. The man reason appears to be that, because of greater awareness of the disease, patients are coming in earlier for treatment.

The rise in "cures" is encouraging, but in a sense it also is misleading. For lung cancer cases are still on the increase. It is still as important as ever to avoid the habit which studies have now clearly identified as a principal cause of this terrible disability.

Brothers Under the Skin

That Vincent's Tie Circles the Earth

BY TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn
OXFORD, England—(NEA)—

Around Vincent's the Oxford University sporting club, they boast about a member who flew to Moscow without his British passport.

Instead of being thrown out of Russia, as he fully expected the Vincent's member was waived through immigration formalities by a Soviet official who recognized the necktie he was wearing.

That necktie—dark blue silk dotted with silver crowns—is one of the most coveted pieces of apparel in the world. It usually signifies that the wearer is an athlete of international standing, for Vincent's Club skims the cream from Oxford's sporting world.

Not all Vincent's members are noted for their athletic prowess. They include both Sir Alex Douglas-Home, the British prime minister, who was president of Vincent's, in 1925, and Harold Macmillan, the former British prime minister.

The King of Norway is a member. So is the Duke of Windsor, who was elected when he was the Prince of Wales and a freshman at Magdalene College, Oxford. (The club rules barring freshmen from becoming members were waived in this case).

The accent at Vincent's is how-ever, is on sports, particularly rugby football. Most members are "Oxford Blues," which means that they have won their school colors playing on varsity teams.

Roger Bannister, the first man to run the mile in under four minutes, is a past president. Chris Chataway, another post-war British track star, is a Vincent's man.

Most recently elected member is Stanley Sanders, one of two American Negroes who are currently Rhodes Scholars at Oxford, the first of their race to be so honored. Sanders is setting records here in the discus throw and shot-put.

Another American Rhodes Scholar to be elected to Vincent's was Pete Dawkins, of West Point, who won his Oxford Blues in rugby and in basketball.

With its undergraduate membership limited to 150, Vincent's is easily the most exclusive social club at Oxford. It is so exclusive, in fact, that one could walk past its clubrooms in King Edward Street a hundred times without noticing the modest nameplate beside the door.

Upstairs, the clubrooms are definitely on the seedy side. They are full of worn leather armchairs stuffed with horsehair. Faded photos of past presidents line the walls. A copy of Plato's "Republic" stands out among the bound volumes of The Badminton Magazine. A television set is the only contemporary touch.

Members, however, would not exchange a single horseshair for modern amenities. Vincent's, which celebrated its centenary last year, likes to preserve the old traditions. Most notable change in the past hundred years has been the rule which decreed free beer for members. They now pay.

Vincent's got its name from an Oxford printer, who rented out rooms to the club back in 1863. (There was a Vincent's Print Shop underneath the club as late as 1963).

Today, its rules are as strict as they were a century ago. No women are allowed on the premises. The same is true of dogs. Gentlemen must wear a jacket and a collar and tie at all times. Smoking is forbidden in the dining room. Members who bring their own wine to table are charged a corkage fee.

And the famous necktie, whether it be spotted in a Singapore bar, or on the golf links at Miami, usually commands respect. For Vincent's works hard to live up to its motto—"A healthy mind in a healthy body."

Quick Quiz

Q—How is the age of a horse determined?

A—The age of any horse is calculated from January 1, regardless of the time of year it was actually born. A foal becomes a yearling on January 1 after the date of its birth. It adds a year to its age on every following January 1.

Q—Who was known as "The Little Flower"?

A—Fiorello La Guardia.

Some men wait too long for that big fling. They dream about it. They talk about it. They vow that it will be this year, or never. Often, it is never. My brother John is 54. He has been dreaming and talking of seeing Florida from the age of 10. It was his dream. When he grew up and married the lovely Anna Gryniak, it became her dream too.

"You'll see," they would say. "We'll get there someday." They are now married 34 years. Their children—Joan, Jack and Stanley—are married and have children of their own. Still, the dream did not die. It became a family joke. The John Bishops live on 72nd Street in North Bergen, N. J., and never got south of Washington or west of Philadelphia.

They never had money. John works as a uniform guard at the Jacques Kreiser Corp. He works nights. Anna works days, making watchbands. When the children grew up, the dream was again deferred because they needed a new living room set, or the car needed fixing, or Anna wanted a tile inlay for the bathroom.

Two weeks ago, the dream came true. John held the car door open for Anna, and they drove south. They stayed at reasonable motels at night, and drove all day. At Jacksonville, John stopped the car to study a palm tree. "The last time I saw a palm," John said quietly, "was in a funeral parlor."

They got to Miami, gawking and nudging each other. They caught the glitter of Miami Beach at night and the manicured severity of Palm Beach. They "shot the works" by staying at a place with a swimming pool. They luxuriated in the sun and Anna said gravely: "It's beautiful like this in the winter time too."

Someone introduced them to Dick Merrill, the famous pilot. When he heard about the dream-come-true, he began to spread the word. Captain Thad Royall of Eastern Airlines was about to take a brand new 727 Jet on a training flight. "Ever fly?" he said. John shook his head. "Too scared," he said. Royall invited them to try it. John and Anna had the big jet to themselves. It was theirs. They sat clutching each other—two people amid rows of empty seats—as the whispering giant took off from Miami International Airport.

As the plane cleared the roof of Naitaional Airlines big hanger, John said nervously: "This is high enough." But the ship climbed steeply through the fleecy clouds, and came out on top into sunlight. It headed south and Anna looked out at the Florida

The Meanings of Words In American Politics

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

EN ROUTE FROM SAN FRANCISCO—The tumult and the shouting are over, but the real battle has just begun. It isn't simply a debate between two rival candidates for the Presidency. It is a struggle, by the use of all manner of communication media and party workers, to make millions of voters believe either that it will be a disaster to elect one nominee or that it means Utopia to choose the other.

But things aren't always as political manipulation makes them out to be. How bewildering, for instance, to watch on the TV all the emotional demonstrations for Gov. Scranton and to hear him say harsh things critical of Sen. Goldwater and of the platform, only to listen to him the next night imploring his own supporters to unite behind the party's nominee. Indeed, the Pennsylvania Governor, in a speech written before the roll call of states but read after Mr. Goldwater was victorious, said: "I shall work for and fully support the ticket chosen by this convention. Though many of us felt that the platform could be improved, all of us can find it acceptable."

Then what was all the furor about? This, it must be said in reply, is politics, and it wouldn't be half as ambiguous or misleading if the American people took the time to read, not just during a convention but through the years in between, the facts about their government and the practices of the politicians.

This correspondent has covered 13 national campaigns, beginning in 1912, and with the exception of the conventions that year, has been present at the 25 conventions held since. They often leave an impression of confusion. Even the dictionaries do not give satisfactory definitions of the words used in the war of epigrams. Nor can the statements that get the most applause on the stump always be readily understood. Sen. Goldwater, for instance, said to the convention in his acceptance speech: "I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

This could be taken to mean that the Arizona Senator was reaffirming the right of our forefathers to revolt against an English king. It could mean that the disorderly demonstrations conducted recently by some of the Negro organizations are defensible because the objective was considered by them to be worthy. The two sentences quoted could have been aimed on the other hand, at those who wanted to insert in the Republican platform a condemnation of "extremism." Senator Goldwater has since said that he didn't have "political extremism" in mind.

Party conventions are sometimes spectacular, but they do not always reflect the wishes of the people—and yet it is not easy to know what the people want or how they feel. In sections of the press, moreover, there is too much emotional criticism and not enough objective analysis. Senator Goldwater has been portrayed, for instance, as an irresponsible, imprudent and impulsive man. He has been thus pictured by some writers and speakers in this country whose viewpoint is accepted as gospel by European editorial writers, and the latter now hysterically predict America is about to go down the drain.

Nor can it be said that an opposition party either here or in Europe always exercises forbearance when it comes to characterizing the incumbent. So, unfortunately, the coming campaign will be a battle of words—of invectives and intondues, of glowing promises and boastful pledges by both sides.

Yet, when the votes are finally counted, it will be found that the collective judgment, even if wrong, puts into the White House a man who feels the restraints of a tremendous responsibility and of a trusteeship that includes concern for the lives and welfare not only of the members of his own party but of all the people.

As for international affairs, no man in the White House is ever going to precipitate war or do anything rash, but here again distortions can be spread. Words of appeasement, on the other hand, may sound as if they are pacific and prudent, but often they merely stimulate the potential enemy to take chances, and then war comes. Both world wars of this century might have been prevented if some of the resoluteness which is often called "war mongering" today had been present then in the governments of Western Europe and in the United States, too.

Maybe someday Presidential campaigns will stress the integrity and common sense of a candidate and not what he said in a speech years before or how he voted when he hadn't quite realized the true pressure of public opinion on a given issue. It is most important that there should be an informed electorate and a perceptive one. Otherwise, the wiles of party politics tend to blur the image of a system of government which after all, must depend for its effectiveness on the support of patriotic and intelligent voters.

Keys. Tears brimmed on her lids. "You know," she said, shaking her head, "I never knew the word was so beautiful."

The big ship landed at Key West. The crew took the middle-aged couple to dinner at the lobster house. Then came a tour of the island, And the flight back. They dined that night on steak at Sonken's Gold Coast. They lunched at Chandler's. They visited the Seagrass and watched porpoises field a ball. Everybody seemed to be friendly. "Pinch me," Anna said. "I'm dreaming," John smiled.

"When I pinch you," he said, "both of us better be awake."

Every day was a sparkling surprise. They sat on sightseeing boat, drove to Vizcaya, ate a Caesar salad for the first time in their lives, and took a plane to Lucaya, on Grand Bahama Island. There they rented a fishing boat, and after all day, came back with sunburns and 38 large kingfish, mackerel, barracuda, horse-eyed jacks, and groupers.

"I never went deep sea fishing before," John said, posing before a rack full of his own fish. "Neither did I," said Anna. "But I want to have a picture of us with the catch." They got a photographer, and crouched like big-time sports, in the evening, they danced to the music of an orchestra which revolved on a platform.

They went to the Lucaya Casino and played black jack and roulette. John lost money on the cards—the $20 she had given him for his wild fling. Then he watched her play roulette. "You can't win at that," he said. "Roulette is for old ladies who can't find a bingo game." Anna glanced at her husband. "You lose your money your way. I'll lose mine my way."

She played number 34. "That's our anniversary," she said. She also played a dollar on the even numbers. Somehow—maybe this only happens to dreamers—number 34 came up five times in the first half hour. John and Anna left Lucaya with $210 more than they had on arrival.

"I think," John said, before they left on the plane, "I can now afford a shot and a beer." He had it. They returned to Miami. They looked down at rows and rows of neat homes. "Flying," Anna said, "is the only way to travel."

John held his wife's hand. "When we get home," he said, "let's not tell the family everything that happened." Anna nodded. "You're right," she said. "We'll only get into an argument." (Copyright, 1964, King Features Syndicate Inc.)

HOME-CENTERED OFFICE

Science may yet provide a solution to city congestion, rush-hour traffic and the scramble that comes when too many people try to get to downtown jobs at the same time. The solution may lie, not in better ways to handle traffic, but in ways to avoid having traffic at all.

This conundrum is not as difficult as it sounds. The traffic problem may simply be by-passed by arranging for many workers to be able to stay at home and do their work at long range. As a starter, executives may be able to keep in touch with one another via two-way TV communication and data processing machines.

This possibility is raised by William L. Libby Jr., a doctoral candidate at the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business. "The only reason to go to work," says Libby in what seems like a burst of over-simplification, "is face-to-face conversation." He says that people thus conversing can sense each others' unspoken attitudes, but he adds that this could be done with closed-circuit television.

Employees could live anywhere, says Libby, with pay based on performance rather than hours spent at work. He foresees that shopping also could be done by televiewers, with salesmen and buyers doing business without leaving home.

That might go a long way toward solving the traffic problem, all right. But has Libby considered all the implications? If a man stayed at home all day he would have to be isolated from his wife or she would not be convinced he was really working and would want him to go to the store for a loaf of bread or to drop off a dress at the cleaners. And how could he survive without those office coffee breaks?

These disheartening facts are tempered somewhat by the disclosure of Mayo Clinic surgeons that there also has been a notable rise in the percentage of lung cancer patients "cured"—that is, enabled to survive for five years or more—by surgery. The man reason appears to be that, because of greater awareness of the disease, patients are coming in earlier for treatment.

The rise in "cures" is encouraging, but in a sense it also is misleading. For lung cancer cases are still on the increase. It is still as important as ever to avoid the habit which studies have now clearly identified as a principal cause of this terrible disability.

That Vincent's Tie Circles the Earth

By TOM A. CULLEN

OXFORD, England—(NEA)—

Around Vincent's the Oxford University sporting club, they boast about a member who flew to Moscow without his British passport.

Instead of being thrown out of Russia, as he fully expected the Vincent's member was waived through immigration formalities by a Soviet official who recognized the necktie he was wearing.

That necktie—dark blue silk dotted with silver crowns—is one of the most coveted pieces of apparel in the world. It usually signifies that the wearer is an athlete of international standing, for Vincent's Club skims the cream from Oxford's sporting world.

Not all Vincent's members are noted for their athletic prowess. They include both Sir Alex Douglas-Home, the British prime minister, who was president of Vincent's in 1925, and Harold Macmillan, the former British prime minister.

The King of Norway is a member. So is the Duke of Windsor, who was elected when he was the Prince of Wales and a freshman at Magdalene College, Oxford. (The club rules barring freshmen from becoming members were waived in this case).

The accent at Vincent's is always on sports, particularly rugby football. Most members are "Oxford Blues," which means that they have won their school colors playing on varsity teams.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 19, 1944 — J. Edward Conway, of this city, as chairman of the State Civil Service Commission, asked civil service employees to spend some vacation time helping farmers and food processors.

Area police sought a man charged with assaulting and robbing a hitch hiker at Tompkins Cove.

July 20, 1944 — Fire damaged an apartment over the Brink store in Lake Katrine. Pearl Winfield Jones, wife of Percy S. Jones, of Pine Street, died.

Roger Bannister, the first man to run the mile in under four minutes, is a past president. Chris Chataway, another post-war British track star, is a Vincent's man.

Most recently elected member is Stanley Sanders, one of two American Negroes who are currently Rhodes Scholars at Oxford, the first of their race to be so honored. Sanders is setting records here in the discus throw and shot-put.

Another American Rhodes Scholar to be elected to Vincent's was Pete Dawkins, of West Point, who won his Oxford Blues in rugby and in basketball.

With its undergraduate membership limited to 150, Vincent's is easily the most exclusive social club at Oxford. It is so exclusive, in fact, that one could walk past its clubrooms in King Edward Street a hundred times without noticing the modest nameplate beside the door.

Upstairs, the clubrooms are definitely on the seedy side. They are full of worn leather armchairs stuffed with horsehair. Faded photos of past presidents line the walls. A copy of Plato's "Republic" stands out among the bound volumes of The Badminton Magazine. A television set is the only contemporary touch.

Members, however, would not exchange a single horsehair for modern amenities. Vincent's, which celebrated its centenary last year, likes to preserve the old traditions. Most notable change in the past hundred years has been the rule which decreed free beer for members. They now pay.

Vincent's got its name from an Oxford printer, who rented out rooms to the club back in 1863. (There was a Vincent's Print Shop underneath the club as late as 1963).

Today, its rules are as strict as they were a century ago. No women are allowed on the premises. The same is true of dogs. Gentlemen must wear a jacket and a collar and tie at all times. Smoking is forbidden in the dining room. Members who bring their own wine to table are charged a corkage fee.

And the famous necktie, whether it be spotted in a Singapore bar, or on the golf links at Miami, usually commands respect. For Vincent's works hard to live up to its motto—"A healthy mind in a healthy body."

Quick Quiz

Q—How is the age of a horse determined?

A—The age of any horse is calculated from January 1, regardless of the time of year it was actually born. A foal becomes a yearling on January 1 after the date of its birth. It adds a year to its age on every following January 1.

Q—Who was known as "The Little Flower"?

A—Florence La Guardia.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Some men wait too long for that big fling. They dream about it. They talk about it. They vow that it will be this year, or never. Often, it is never. My brother John is 54. He has been dreaming and talking of seeing Florida from the age of 10. It was his dream. When he grew up and married the lovely Anna Gryniak, it became her dream too.

"You'll see," they would say. "We'll get there someday." They are now married 34 years. Their children—Joan, Jack and Stanley—are married and have children of their own. Still, the dream did not die. It became a family joke. The John Bishops live on 72nd Street in North Bergen, N. J., and never go south of Washington or west of Philadelphia.

They never had money. John works as a uniform guard at the Jacques Kreiser Corp. He works nights. Anna works days, making watchbands. When the children grew up, the dream was again deferred because they needed a new living room set, or the car needed fixing, or Anna wanted a tile inlay for the bathroom.

Two weeks ago, the dream came true. John held the car door open for Anna, and they headed south. They stayed at reasonable motels at night, and drove all day. At Jacksonville, John stopped the car to study a palm tree. "The last time I saw a palm," John said quietly, "was in a funeral parlor."

They got to Miami, gawking and nudging each other. They caught the glitter of Miami Beach at night and the manicured serenity of Palm Beach. They "shot the works" by staying at a place with a swimming pool. They luxuriated in the sun and Anna said gravely: "It's beautiful like this in the winter time too."

Someone introduced them to Dick Merrill, the famous pilot. When he heard about the dream-coming-true, he began to spread the word. Captain Thad Royall of Eastern Airlines was about to take a brand new 727 Jet on a training flight. "Ever fly?" he said. John shook his head. "Too scared," he said. Royall invited them to try it. John and Anna had the big jet to themselves. It was theirs. They sat clutching each other—two people amid rows of empty seats—as the whispering giant took off from Miami International Airport.

As the plane cleared the roof of National Airlines big hanger, John said nervously: "This is high enough." But the ship climbed steeply through the fleecy clouds, and came out on top into sunlight. It headed south and Anna looked out at the Florida

The Meanings of Words In American Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

EN ROUTE FROM SAN FRANCISCO—The tumult and the shouting are over, but the real battle has just begun. It isn't simply a debate between two rival candidates for the Presidency. It is a struggle, by the use of all manner of communication media and party workers, to make millions of voters believe either that it will be a disaster to elect one nominee or that it means Utopia to choose the other.

But things aren't always as political manipulation makes them out to be. How bewildering, for instance, to watch on the TV all the emotional demonstrations for Gov. Scranton and to hear him say harsh things critical of Sen. Goldwater and of the platform, only to listen to him the next night imploring his own supporters to unite behind the party's nominee. Indeed, the Pennsylvania Governor, in a speech written before the roll call of states but read after Mr. Goldwater was victorious, said: "I shall work for and fully support the ticket chosen by this convention. Though many of us felt that the platform could be improved, all of us can find it acceptable."

Then what was all the furor about? This, it must be said in reply, is politics, and it wouldn't be half as ambiguous or misleading if the American people took the time to read, not just during a convention but through the years in between, the facts about their government and the practices of the politicians.

This correspondent has covered 13 national campaigns, beginning in 1912, and with the exception of the conventions that year, has been present at the 25 conventions held since. They often leave an impression of confusion. Even the dictionaries do not give satisfactory definitions of the words used in the war of epigrams. Nor can the statements that get the most applause on the stump always be readily understood. Sen. Goldwater, for instance, said to the convention in his acceptance speech:

"I would remind you that extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. And let me remind you also that moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

This could be taken to mean that the Arizona Senator was reaffirming the right of our forefathers to revolt against an English king. It could mean that the disorderly demonstrations conducted recently by some of the Negro organizations are defensible because the objective was considered by them to be worthy. The two sentences quoted could have been aimed on the other hand, at those who wanted to insert in the Republican platform a condemnation of "extremism." Senator Goldwater has since said that he didn't have "political extremism" in mind.

Party conventions are sometimes spectacular, but they do not always reflect the wishes of the people—and yet it is not easy to know what the people want or how they feel. In sections of the press, moreover, there is too much emotional criticism and not enough objective analysis. Senator Goldwater has been portrayed, for instance, as an irresponsible, imprudent and impulsive man. He has been thus pictured by some writers and speakers in this country whose viewpoint is accepted as gospel by European editorial writers, and the latter now hysterically predict America is about to go down the drain.

Nor can it be said that an opposition party either here or in Europe always exercises forbearance when it comes to characterizing the incumbent. So, unfortunately, the coming campaign will be a battle of words—of invectives and innuendoes, of glowing promises and boastful pledges by both sides.

Yet, when the votes are finally counted, it will be found that the collective judgment, even if wrong, puts into the White House a man who feels the responsibility of a tremendous responsibility and of a trusteeship that includes concern for the lives and welfare not only of the members of his own party but of all the people.

As for international affairs, no man in the White House is ever going to precipitate war or do anything rash, but here again distortions can be spread. Words of appeasement, on the other hand, may sound as if they are pacific and prudent, but often they are a disguise for the potential enemy to take chances, and then war comes. Both world wars of this century might have been prevented if some of the resoluteness which is often called "war mongering" today had been present then in the governments of Western Europe and in the United States, too.

Maybe someday Presidential campaigns will stress the integrity and common sense of a candidate and not what he said in a speech years before he was elected when he hadn't quite realized the true pressures of public opinion on a given issue. It is most important that there should be an informed electorate and a perceptive one. Otherwise, the wiles of party politics tend to blur the image of a system of government which after all, must depend for its effectiveness on the support of patriotic and intelligent voters.

More Accuracy Is Planned in Next Detection Missiles

By HOWARD BENEDICT
A.P. Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Atomic Energy Commission scientists plan more sophisticated nuclear detection satellites to follow a pair maneuvered into patrol positions 65,000 miles above the earth over the week-end.

Sentry Satellite No. 2 was jockeyed into position Sunday when a radio signal from the ground shifted it out of a great elliptical orbit onto a circular path in which the high and low points are about the same.

A companion satellite was fired into a similar orbit Friday night. The twin watchdogs are traveling about 100,000 miles apart as they scan more than 200 million miles of space in search of illicit nuclear explosions.

The sentries are forerunners of a network of operational stations intended to police the limited nuclear test ban treaty. The treaty, signed last year by more than 100 nations, forbids nuclear testing in the atmosphere, under water and in space.

The sentries joined two others orbited in a similar triple shot last October.

Work is under way on a third pair of experimental vehicles scheduled for launching in several months. They reportedly will carry optical devices to monitor not only space nuclear blasts but also those in the earth's atmosphere.

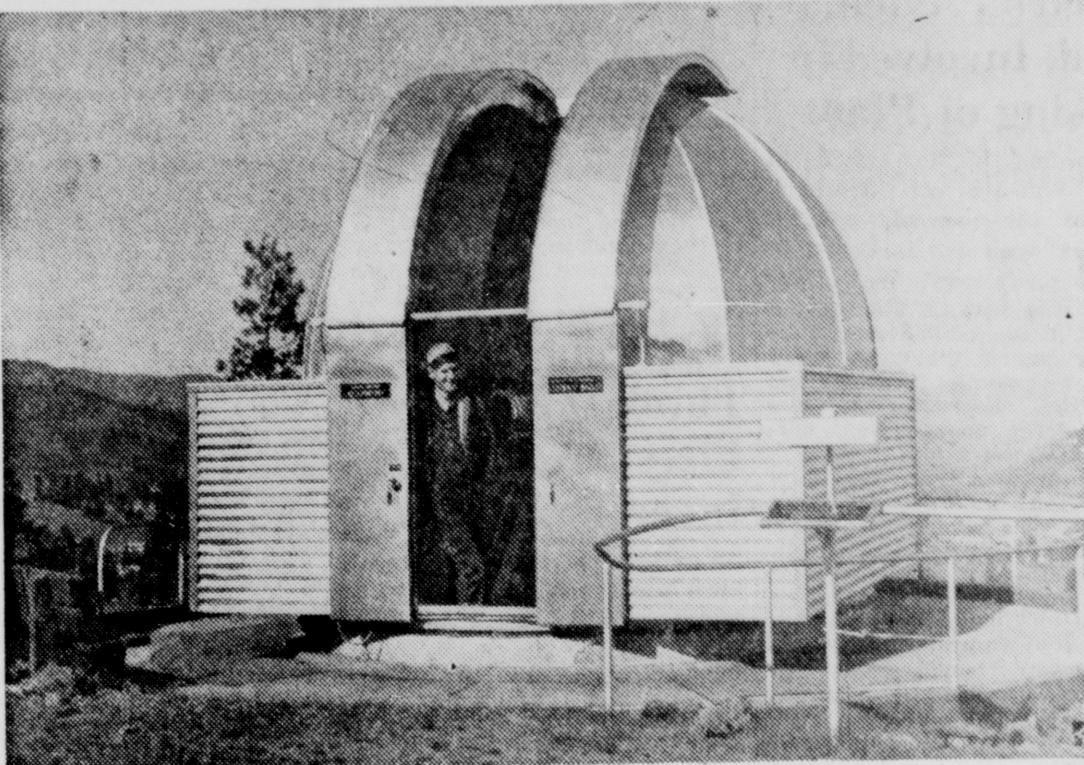

bins on "new ways to make old bricks . . ." He feels that the love of antiques has brought on a business of making reproductions, and the same goes for old brick. In spite of Urban Renewal and other ways of tearing down acres of good old brick and bluestone structures, the demand for old bricks cannot be met, or second-hand brick as some call it. Now there is a product called "antique brick," for that special effect inside and out, the rustic finish, even used in recently built motels. I cannot keep up with it all, first they tear down all the porches of lovely old homes, and put on those narrow steps, and railing, then back comes the rocking chairs, and now they have no place to put them. With the skin and bones, glass and metal constructions and the antique furniture and pictures, and the abstract art items. It is all so confusing.

When a trend hits our country, everybody goes for it and it seems the popularity of old brick has made it scarce, and those who have old brick know its value and ask the right price for a scarce item. Also old brick has to be cleaned and prepared for new structures and so it becomes even more costly than new brick. The manufacturers of brick are trying to meet the demand for this so called "antique brick" and one of the firms is right here in Kingston, according to the New York Times. Leo E. Schwarzstein, president of the Terry Brick Corp. of East Kingston is now turning out what he called "antique" brick. According to photographs of these brick on page 8, the brick has a weathered appearance, irregular, and has rounded edges and other marks of "old age", which is no easy matter to produce according to this article.

Art has many forms, be it brick, bluestone, oils, photography, watercolors, name it, and the residents of Kingston and Ulster County can produce it. I was invited to the opening of an art exhibit at the Art Craft Gallery, at 694 Broadway, of metal sculpture, prints and photography, by Phillip Gurrieri, a Kingstonian. One statue of Icarus of the wax wings who flew so near the sun that they melted. Mr. Gurrieri did in powerful metal sculpture, showing Icarus in flight, which I admired very much. Mr. Gurrieri's talent is in many fields, and especially in photography and the subjects which he finds all over the country. He is in his middle 20's, and has achieved recognition in his field, and is continuing his university studies. Perhaps he receives some of this talent from his mother who has achieved her own success in the garment line, right here in Rondout, when she had a plant in the Andy's Furniture Building, the former Stock and Cordis on lower Broadway.

I stopped by the same day at our lovely Academy Green, and saw the art display of the Ulster County Art Association. The pictures were all nicely framed, and neatly done, many very colorful. I liked "Roadside Flowers" by F. H. Ransom, because it was so natural, of our Ulster County roadsides, with its daintiness and proud Queen Anne's lace, and a few simple clovers and some uncut pointed grass, a very pleasant picture, I thought. I always admire Mr. Strickland's oils, and so do many. I noticed Sally Gallagher's flower paintings are magnificent, and I hope she will have a chance to teach flower painting in our school system. Miss Gallagher is a teacher in our school system, and so was her mother, who was often our substitute teacher in my time. Both mother and daughter have the same warm pleasant personality.

Wallace's Decision Not To Run May Swell Barry's Vote

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's segregationist governor, George C. Wallace, is no novice in hopping from position to position. He has hopped again, this time in announcing his withdrawal as an independent candidate for president.

This will almost certainly benefit Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, who has said no Republican could hope to win this year's election without the South.

Goldwater, who voted against this year's civil rights bill, was expected to cut into President Johnson's Southern margin by capturing a lot of the segregationists' votes. But Wallace would have won a lot of them, too, if he ran.

By running, Wallace would probably have hurt Goldwater more than Johnson. Wallace didn't say Sunday which candidate he will back. He indicated he would say more after next month's Democratic convention.

Wallace did say he would support whichever major party candidate proved to be the more conservative and zealous in upholding the principles of free enterprise, local government and state's rights. It's Goldwater who has made a career of championing all those points.

It seems hardly a coincidence, therefore, that Wallace stepped out of the race just four days after Goldwater got the Republican nomination.

His present reluctance to name his choice can be interpreted as an attempt to pressure the Democrats into toning down the civil rights plank in the platform they nail together at the convention, since he's a leader of the anti-civil rights forces and the Southern vote is important.

The Republican civil rights plank is surely milder than anything the Democrats are likely to produce if only because it was their Democratic-run Congress under Johnson's pressure which passed the new Civil Rights Act this month.

Even some Republicans thought their plank didn't go far enough, but their attempts to strengthen it were crushed by the Goldwater forces.

At one time he said he wouldn't be a presidential candidate. Then he came around to saying he would be a serious one. Now he has changed again. Asked Sunday if he would enforce the new civil rights law, he replied that was for the federal government to do, although, he said, he never encouraged disobedience or defiance of any law. He forgot about 1963.

Last year when a federal court ordered desegregation of the University of Alabama and the admittance of two Negroes, Wallace said he would bar their entrance himself, adding: "This is legal resistance and legal defiance."

He barred the door and the late President John F. Kennedy had to federalize the Alabama National Guard before Wallace would step aside. Then he trotted away.

Young Marine Blamed For $75,000 Damage

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 19-year-old Marine was arrested Sunday and charged with keeping a disorderly house after police broke up what they said was a three-day party that caused heavy damage to a $75,000 home.

Daniel Chidester was arrested at his parents' big home in the city's Oakland section. There were 25 persons there at the time who Chidester said were helping clean up.

Police were summoned by Chidester's aunt and uncle who had been asked to look after the house while Chidester's parents were in Europe.

Officers said 200 to 300 persons had attended the party at various times. They said the house was littered with bottles and cigarette butts and that damage included a $10,000 rug that was described as ruined.

Po'keepsie IBM Employee Killed In Plane Crash

A 33-year-old IBM employee at the Poughkeepsie plant, Capt. John H. Paris, of 1 Sunset Drive, Newburgh, was killed Saturday in a plane crash near Southampton, Mass., about three miles from where Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was injured in a plane crash last month.

Capt. Paris, a member of the Massachusetts Air National Guard, was attached to the 104th Tactical Fighter Group based at Barnes Airport, according to the Associated Press.

Air National Guard officers and civil authorities credited Captain Paris with saving the lives of many people, by directing the plane towards a wooded area before he ejected from the plane.

The AP reported Air National Guard officers at Barnes airport said the F86 Jet piloted by Capt. Paris was on a landing approach when he apparently ran into trouble over the crowded Hampton Ponds recreational area.

It was reported Paris ejected at a low altitude but his parachute did not deploy properly. The plane landed in a wooded area three miles from where the private plane carrying Senator Kennedy and others, crashed on June 19, killing two persons. Kennedy is hospitalized in Boston presently for treatment for a fractured back.

Captain Paris started his two weeks vacation from IBM on Friday.

Next Move to Be

say whether he specifically had the Klan in mind, told a Saturday news conference at his Texas ranch.

"Some of the factual reports which I read daily have recently given me cause for concern regarding organized violence by small groups who mask their identity."

"I condemn as do most Americans the use of violence and terror by clandestine hate organizations."

Johnson's reference to those who "mask their identity" seemed calculated. Members of the Klan wear white sheets and hoods.

The President flew back to Washington late Sunday night after spending the weekend at his ranch near Johnson City, Tex.

Johnson faces a busy schedule of official meetings this week—with the prime ministers of New Zealand and Malaysia, with Latin American foreign ministers, and with leaders of business and labor.

One White House official, who declined to be identified by name, told newsmen before the President's departure from Texas that Johnson fears "overheated discussion" of economic policy during the election campaign might undermine prosperity.

Electrol, Avien, Bank Involved in Closing of Plant

According to an article in "The Wall Street Journal," Electrol Incorporated, which closed a week ago is trying to resume operations. W. S. Gilmore, president of Electrol, is quoted in the Wall Street Journal as saying the company is trying to resume operations and that the close-down involves "our parent organization, ourselves and the bank."

Leo A. Weiss, president of Avien, Inc., of Woodside, N. Y., parent corporation of Electrol, is reported to have said in New York that bank loans totaling about $700,000 came due in June and weren't paid, "but it wasn't anticipated we would. It was anticipated we would renew the loans and we are still negotiating."

The close-down of Electrol has forced Aero Commander, a division of Rockwell-Standard Corporation, to lay off about 20 per cent of its employees. Electrol supplied landing gear for the Aero Commander's executive aircraft. Aero Commander said it is looking for a new supplier.

It is estimated about 400 of the plant employees of 2,000 at Aero have been laid off since Electrol ceased to supply the landing gear for Aero.

The article in the Wall Street Journal quotes Avien as reporting that last month Avien said it had been directed to stop work on its $2.8-million contract from North American Aviation, Inc., to supply an antenna system for the Apollo space vehicle. Mr. Weiss said Avien's backlog stand at about $3 million, which he said marks "no substantial change" from a year earlier, apart from the halted Apollo contract.

Avien has had a number of management changes during the past year. The most recent was last Monday when Pierre Alina resigned as president and chief executive officer but continued as chairman. Leo A. Weiss, who until July 1963 had been chairman and president of the electronics supplier, replaced Mr. Alina as president and chief executive officer.

One reported at 7:09 p. m., was in a pile of used truck and automobile tires near the gas tanks off North Street and East Strand, and the other at 6:50 p. m., was for shed fire at Kingspoint.

Sheppards Faces Future With Hope and Fear

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard, happy in his freedom from prison and in his new marriage, faced the future today with hope and fear.

He and his bride of two days, the former Ariane Tebbenjohannis, a German divorcee, made arrangements to fly to New York City. She said they would have interviews there, but she didn't go into detail.

"We cannot make any plans," she told a newsmen. "We'll stay available. Perhaps by Wednesday Dr. Sam will have to go back to the penitentiary."

But Dr. Sheppard and his attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said they expected the physician to remain out of prison, where he served almost nine years for slaying his first wife, Marilyn, in 1954.

Sheppard walked out of the penitentiary Thursday on the order of a federal judge who ruled he did not have a fair trial.

The next step in the case will be taken Wednesday. A three-judge panel of the 6th U.S. Court of Appeals will decide whether Sheppard shall remain free on $10,000 bond while the state of Ohio appeals the order which freed him.

A 33-year-old IBM employee at the Poughkeepsie plant, Capt. John H. Paris, of 1 Sunset Drive, Newburgh, was killed Saturday in a plane crash near Southampton, Mass., about three miles from where Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was injured in a plane crash last month.

Capt. Paris, a member of the Massachusetts Air National Guard, was attached to the 104th Tactical Fighter Group based at Barnes Airport, according to the Associated Press.

Air National Guard officers and civil authorities credited Captain Paris with saving the lives of many people, by directing the plane towards a wooded area before he ejected from the plane.

The AP reported Air National Guard officers at Barnes Airport said the F86 Jet piloted by Capt. Paris was on a landing approach when he apparently ran into trouble over the crowded Hampton Ponds recreational area.

It was reported Paris ejected at a low altitude but his parachute did not deploy properly. The plane landed in a wooded area three miles from where the private plane carrying Senator Kennedy and others, crashed on June 19, killing two persons. Kennedy is hospitalized in Boston presently for treatment for a fractured back.

Captain Paris started his two weeks vacation from IBM on Friday.

Johnson's reference to those who "mask their identity" seemed calculated. Members of the Klan wear white sheets and hoods.

The President flew back to Washington late Sunday night after spending the weekend at his ranch near Johnson City, Tex.

Johnson faces a busy schedule of official meetings this week—with the prime ministers of New Zealand and Malaysia, with Latin American foreign ministers, and with leaders of business and labor.

One White House official, who declined to be identified by name, told newsmen before the President's departure from Texas that Johnson fears "overheated discussion" of economic policy during the election campaign might undermine prosperity.

Electrol, Avien, Bank Involved in Closing of Plant

According to an article in "The Wall Street Journal," Electrol Incorporated, which closed a week ago is trying to resume operations. W. S. Gilmore, president of Electrol, is quoted in the Wall Street Journal as saying the company is trying to resume operations and that the close-down involves "our parent organization, ourselves and the bank."

Leo A. Weiss, president of Avien, Inc., of Woodside, N. Y., parent corporation of Electrol, is reported to have said in New York that bank loans totaling about $700,000 came due in June and weren't paid, "but it wasn't anticipated we would. It was anticipated we would renew the loans and we are still negotiating."

The close-down of Electrol has forced Aero Commander, a division of Rockwell-Standard Corporation, to lay off about 20 per cent of its employees. Electrol supplied landing gear for the Aero Commander's executive aircraft. Aero Commander said it is looking for a new supplier. It is estimated about 400 of the plant employees of 2,000 at Aero have been laid off since Electrol ceased to supply the landing gear for Aero.

The article in the Wall Street Journal quotes Avien as reporting that last month Avien said it had been directed to stop work on its $2.8-million contract from North American Aviation, Inc., to supply an antenna system for the Apollo space vehicle. Mr. Weiss said Avien's backlog stand at about $3 million, which he said marks "no substantial change" from a year earlier, apart from the halted Apollo contract.

Avien has had a number of management changes during the past year. The most recent one was last Monday when Pierre Alsina resigned as president and chief executive officer but continued as chairman. Leo A. Weiss, who until July 1963 had been chairman and president of the electronics supplier, replaced Mr. Alsina as president and chief executive officer.

Firemen checked two downtown fires of suspected incendiary origin and a brush fire Sunday.

One reported at 7:09 p. m., was in a pile of used truck and automobile tires near the gas tanks off North Street and East Strand, and the other at 6:50 p. m., was for shed fire at Kings-ton Point.

Police headquarters notified the fire department that heavy smoke was reported coming from the North Street area near the tanks and the call was followed by an alarm from Box 2251, East Strand and Auburn Street.

Units from Central and Cornell stations, Cordis, Union and Rapid companies responded with Chief James M. Breit and Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholz in charge.

Lt. Joseph J. Miles, of Cornell Station, was treated at Benedictine Hospital for bruises of the upper right arm.

Firemen said the blaze had apparently been set by someone in the tires owned by B. Millens & Son, 290 East Strand, and piled near railroad tracks. A pump and hydrant streams were used. The recall was at 7:30 p. m.

A call at 6:50 p. m. was for a blaze in a city-owned shed at Kings-ton Point, which had been previously damaged by fire. Firemen suspect that the blaze had also been deliberately set. Units from Cornell Station, the Union and Cordis companies, responded with Deputy Chief Buchholz in charge.

Sheppards Faces Future With Hope and Fear

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard, happy in his freedom from prison and in his new marriage, faced the future today with hope and fear.

He and his bride of two days, the former Ariane Tobbenjohans, a German divorcee, made arrangements to fly to New York City. She said they would have interviews there, but she didn't go into detail.

"We cannot make any plans," she told a newsmen. "We'll stay available. Perhaps by Wednesday Dr. Sam will have to go back to the penitentiary."

But Dr. Sheppard and his attorney, F. Lee Bailey, said they expected the physician to remain out of prison, where he served almost nine years for slaying his first wife, Marilyn, in 1954.

Sheppard walked out of the penitentiary Thursday on the order of a federal judge who ruled he did not have a fair trial.

The next step in the case will be taken Wednesday. A three-judge panel of the 6th U.S. Court of Appeals will decide whether Sheppard shall remain free on $10,000 bond while the state of Ohio appeals the order which freed him.

Keating to Meet Goldwater on Moderating Views

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, one of the leaders of the unsuccessful stop - Goldwater drive at the Republican National Convention, says he hopes to meet with Sen. Barry Goldwater in Washington in an attempt to get him to "moderate his views."

Hope Shooting Not 2nd Girard Case

TOKYO (AP)—American and Japanese officials are investigating a shooting which the Americans hope won't mushroom into another Girard case.

The U.S. Marines said Pfc. Manuel A. Covarrubias of Wapato, Wash., killed a 45-year-old Japanese woman, Yuki Katsumata, with a shotgun blast at Camp Fuji north of Tokyo. The Marine was on sentry duty.

The Marine press office said Covarrubias saw the woman coming out of a tent before dawn in the middle of the camp. It said he challenged her three times in English and again in Japanese, then fired when she did not halt.

Accounts in the Japanese press questioned whether it had been necessary to shoot the woman. American Minister John K. Emmerson called on Vice Foreign Minister Takio Oda to express regret.

The incident recalled the 1957 case of U.S. Army Specialist William F. Girard which set off a furor in Japan and in Congress. A group of Japanese scrap collectors had trespassed onto a U.S. firing range. Girard inserted an empty cartridge backwards in the muzzle of his rifle, pulled the trigger and killed a Japanese woman.

Although the United States had jurisdiction over the case, Girard was turned over to a Japanese court to quiet the public outburst and tried on a man-

Rep. Celler Is Urging Stratton As Senate Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat, says Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam is "the best man the Democrats can put forward" for the U.S. Senate nomination in New York.

On a taped radio program Sunday, Celler said Stratton has proved his strength in normally Republican Upstate New York and could be assured of the New York City Democratic plurality.

Stratton has not formally announced his candidacy for the Senate seat held by Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating.

Slow But in the Lead

MONTICELLO, Ky. (AP)—A somewhat battered truck, straining up a hill near Monticello, carried this sign on the rear bumper: "I may be slow but I'm ahead of you."

Narrow Escape From Drowning Saturday

Lewis Mohr, 26, of 1050 Forest Avenue, Staten Island, had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday afternoon at the Crum's Old Hole in Krumville off Route 209.

Mohr, a poor swimmer, with several others were swimming when Mohr waded into deep water and disappeared. A companion, Peter Simonsen of 96 Perry Street, Staten Island, dove in and pulled Mohr from the bottom and took him to shore. Taken to Kingston Hospital in a station wagon by one of the bathers, water was pumped from his stomach and he was later released.

The incident was investigated by Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone and Deputy Sheriffs Bert Wollen and Richard Doran.

Although it weighs less than an ounce, the jumping mouse can cover 10 to 12 feet in a single leap.

Gov. Scranton Is Relaxing, 47th Birthday Quiet

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton, after a quiet celebration of his 47th birthday, spending the day with his family, relaxing at his Marworth estate, began a two-week vacation today in the Adirondack Mountains in New York State.

It was just about the first day of relaxation the governor has had since June 2, when he began his unsuccessful campaign for the Republican presidential nomination—a campaign which took him more than 30,000 miles to 32 cities in 26 states.

The governor is expected back at the Capitol August 1. Scranton, his wife, Mary, and their four children will spend the two-week vacation at the Little Moose Lodge in the Adirondacks.

The governor and his family spent a quiet day Sunday, celebrating the governor's birthday with a small party.

Keating to Meet Goldwater on Moderating Views

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, one of the leaders of the unsuccessful stop-Goldwater drive at the Republican National Convention, says he hopes to meet with Sen. Barry Goldwater in Washington in an attempt to get him to "moderate his views."

After the Arizona Conservative was nominated for president, Keating said he would have to search his conscience before deciding whether to support Goldwater.

Sunday, Keating said he had not yet made up his mind. Keating also said that he had not made up his mind whether to seek re-election in November. He is generally considered to be a candidate for a second term.

He said he thought it would be wise for New York State Republicans to offer a platform supplementary to the national platform because he believes there are "a number of bad deficiencies" in the national platform.

Quick Sale

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP) — While attending a rummage sale, Mrs. Rose Tanner laid her glasses on a counter. A customer picked them up, paid a saleslady and departed with them.

Hope Shooting Not 2nd Girard Case

TOKYO (AP)—American and Japanese officials are investigating a shooting which the Americans hope won't mushroom into another Girard case.

The U.S. Marines said Pfc. Manuel A. Covarrubias of Wapato, Wash., killed a 45-year-old Japanese woman, Yuki Katsumata, with a shotgun blast at Camp Fuji north of Tokyo. The Marine was on sentry duty.

The Marine press office said Covarrubias saw the woman coming out of a tent before dawn in the middle of the camp. It said he challenged her three times in English and again in Japanese, then fired when she did not halt.

Accounts in the Japanese press questioned whether it had been necessary to shoot the woman. American Minister John K. Emmerson called on Vice Foreign Minister Takio Oda to express regret.

The incident recalled the 1957 case of U.S. Army Specialist William F. Girard which set off a furor in Japan and in Congress. A group of Japanese scrap collectors had trespassed onto a U.S. firing range. Girard inserted an empty cartridge backwards in the muzzle of his rifle, pulled the trigger and killed a Japanese woman.

Although the United States had jurisdiction over the case, Girard was turned over to a Japanese court to quiet the public outburst and tried on a manslaughter charge. The Japanese court gave him a suspended three-year sentence.

Israel Denies Loss of Plane Six Casualties

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Israel has denied reports that it lost a jet plane in an air battle with Egypt and suffered six casualties in a border clash with Syria Sunday.

In Cairo a military spokesman said four French-built Mirage Israeli jets were intercepted on a reconnaissance flight near Alexandria by Egyptian fighters. He said one Israeli plane was shot down and a second hit.

An Israeli army spokesman called the Egyptian claim "a complete invention."

In Damascus, a Syrian army spokesman claimed six Israelis were killed or wounded in a 30-minute battle north of the Sea of Galilee. The Israeli spokesman confirmed the clash but denied the casualties.

Dies of Injuries

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — A 19-year-old youth died early today in Albany Medical Center Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday night when his automobile left the road and overturned on Route 149, near Route 9 in Warren County.

The victim was William Dougherty of Newfield, N.J.

slaughter charge. The Japanese court gave him a suspended three-year sentence.

Something to Sneeze At

Hay fever is a favorite subject with the comics; but there are some eight or nine million Americans for whom the subject isn't funny at all.

For most, fortunately, the agony is only temporary. Sneezing spasms, runny, swollen nasal passages, itchy tear-filled eyes plague the victim for a few weeks every summer and then it's all over for another year. But others suffer regardless of the season. Their misery can be set off by a host of sneeze-producing substances—dust particles, feathers, pets, even certain foods. In addition, one out of three hay fever victims develops asthma. And that can become serious indeed if it isn't treated promptly and properly.

Hay fever is one of the allergic diseases; its victims are sensitive to substances that don't bother most people. Actually, the term "hay fever" is a misnomer. Its medical name is allergic rhinitis, and it's seldom caused by hay, rarely accompanied by fever.

For all hay fever victims, rule number one is the same: See your doctor. Not every case is alike, not every treatment equally effective. The doctor may run a series of allergy tests to determine precisely what it is that makes you sneeze. Antihistamines and hormones (such as the well-known drug, cortizone) are sometimes prescribed—but these should never be used except on medical advice.

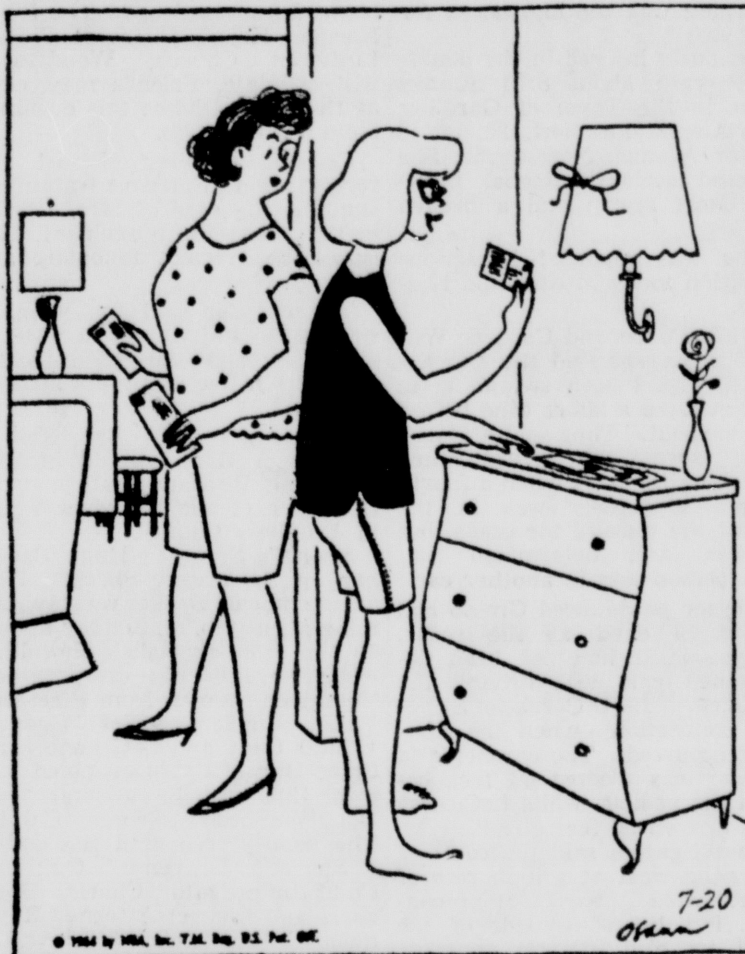

The doctor may suggest using an air conditioner. Or—in unusually severe cases—he may advise you to move out of any locality where there is a high incidence of pollen in the air during the summer.

Whether you call it hay fever, allergic rhinitis, or something more graphic but less printable, for one out of 20 Americans it is something to sneeze at!

Rabies Spreads With Outbreaks In Non-Domestics

By ARTHUR HILL

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Rabies, a relatively rare but dreaded disease, has become a hardcore problem for the U.S. Public Health Service for two reasons: too little knowledge and too many carriers among wildlife.

For years, cats and dogs were the chief concern of rabies watchers. In the last year or two, however, rabies has been brought well under control in domesticated animals.

This leaves the health service with a major snag—rabies in wildlife.

The service's communicable disease center here reports that the appearance of rabies in animals is running 18 per cent ahead of last year. Through mid-June, 2,216 cases had been reported compared with 1,871 for the same period of 1963.

Blames Wildlife

The increase is due exclusively to rabies outbreaks in wildlife, according to Dr. Robert G. Scholtens, head of the center's Zoonoses surveillance unit. Zoonoses is a term for diseases which can occur in both man and animals.

"Our only tool for control here is trapping the wildlife, but this is not really effective," Scholtens says. "It just eases our conscience that we are doing something." Rabies is a virus disease which attacks the nervous system.

If a person is suspected of having been bitten by a rabid animal, Scholtens says, doctors don't waste time testing him to see if he has the disease. They pump Louis Pasteur's vaccine, or a modern version of it, into the suspected victim by means of a psychologically jarring 14-day series of daily injections through the stomach wall.

If rabies could be controlled in animals, then it could be eradicated, the researchers would be no need to use the vaccine in animal bite cases.

A group here may be close to purifying the rabies virus for the first time. Once this is done, scientists can explore precisely what effect the virus has on the key genetic structures of living cells, he says.

The number of rabies cases in domesticated animals each year has steadily dropped over the last decade from 8,000 to about 600. During the same period, rabies in wild animals has been increasing from 700 to nearly 3,000 cases a year. Since 1960, wild animals have had the greater number of cases, the health service reports.

Bats Join Carriers

The traditional animal hosts for rabies are dogs, foxes and skunks. In recent years, however, CDC has added raccoons and bats to the list.

If it could be definitely established that some animal—like the opossum, for example—carried the disease and spread it without itself becoming diseased, scientists then would have a vital clue toward understanding rabies.

The identification of a host would go a long way toward explaining the persistent nature of rabies, Scholtens says.

Hollywood News and Views

By JAMES BACON

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Bea. are a big hit in their first movie — critics call them the new Marx Brothers—and no one is happier than movie composer David Rose.

Rose is a serious musician noted for his lush use of strings.

Beatles on the Walls

His music is somewhat removed from that of the Beatles. Until the Beatles' reviews came out, Rose thought maybe he had approached music from the wrong direction.

"I went up to my teenage daughter's room the other day," he says. "The walls were plastered with pictures of the Beatles."

"There were no pictures of me. Worse there were none of my albums in her record collection. What does a father do in a situation like that?"

"I'm glad the Beatles are successful as movie stars. Maybe now they'll get out of the music business."

Nolsy as the Beatles

Oddly, Rose's biggest hit was an out-of-character number as noisy as the Beatles.

"When MGM made 'Sweet Bird of Youth,' with Paul Newman and Geraldine Page a few years ago, the song 'Ebb-Tide' was used as background music," he said.

"MGM records asked me to record it, which I did. It was expected to be a hit. It wasn't, but the other side of the record was my all-time big seller—'The Stripper.'"

How that came about is one of those show business mistakes that boomerang into big money. "The Stripper" was some background music I had composed for a television show of the old play 'Burlesque.' I had written it and forgotten about it. Isn't it ironic that I, who had made a reputation with strings, should get my greatest fame from some honky-tonk, brassy, loud, drum-beating song?"

Goldwater Gets Ready for Action In Hard Campaign

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, counting on an active campaign boost from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is setting his political counselors to work on battle plans for the race against President Johnson.

Goldwater flies back to Washington and his Senate desk today.

Tentative thinking on the Goldwater campaign shapes up this way:

—It is likely to be a series of forays for major addresses with bases in Washington and Phoenix.

—One old-fashioned whistle-stop stint is in prospect, lasting perhaps a week and covering the interior valley of California.

—Goldwater forces are drafting plans for formation of a citizens committee which would seek to rally Democrats and independent voters to the Goldwater cause.

In the month ahead, the raveling campaign will consist largely of what one top aide called "a few sorties for special purposes."

—Goldwater, as he did in the California primary campaign, will rely heavily on television to carry his message to the voters. The senator probably will begin recording television appearances early in August.

Boy Wounded in Fight With Policeman Dies

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A 14-year-old ex-Boy Scout, wounded July 7 in a gunfight with policemen, died Saturday in Memorial Hospital.

Thomas White, in critical condition since the shooting, was never able to tell police why he seized a pistol from a patrolman at knifepoint, commandeered a bus, then exchanged shots with other police until felled by a bullet in the head.

The youth used the bus to force Patrolman Leo Napolitano to give up his pistol, then fired shots at a ticket clerk in a bus station, ordered two men and a woman into a bus and forced the vehicle's operator to drive away.

He permitted the passengers and the driver to leave the bus after other police arrived but then opened fire.

It was not determined whether the bullet that struck him came from a police gun or was self-inflicted. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. White of Syracuse.

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Italian designers doffed their hats today as fashion showings for fall and winter switched from Rome to Florence.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Emotion or computers? What is sending the stock market averages up—hunches or cold calculations?

For two straight weeks all three of the Dow-Jones averages—30 industrials, 20 railroads, 15 utilities—have made new highs. This is the first time since 1929 that all three have set records in any one year.

Is it the economic outlook? Is it political excitement and predictions? And who is making this market—the average stock holder or the pros?

The professionals get most of the credit, but what makes them tick? Many think that calculation is the clue to the stock market behavior today even more than ever.

The tradition is that insiders with all the tips and prior knowledge coldly calculate how this or that stock or the market in general will react to any foreseeable set of events.

More recently the notion has grown that the big investors—a comparatively few well-heeled individuals, but even more the pension funds and other institutions—do the cold reasoning and buy or sell more or less in unison.

But veterans on Wall Street warn against this easy view of the market.

They point out that there are now estimated to be 17 million or more Americans holding stocks, each a potential buyer or seller. Most of them may belong to the oddlotters, the ones who trade in less than 100 shares at a time.

Pros tend to look down their noses at oddlotters as always wrong. Maybe they are, but they aren't without influence on stock price trends—such as the summer rally now intriguing the watchers of the stock market scene.

And pros are people, too. The institutional investors may seem impersonal, but individuals make the investing decisions. Right now is it emotion or calculation that determines?

Currently the force seems to be predominately bullish.

Friday the market saw 635 shares advance and 432. The popular averages were even more impressive.

The average high set Friday by the Dow-Jones industrials was 851.35, compared with a 1964 low of 766.08. The rails advanced to a record 220.98, an even more impressive advance from the 1964 low of 178.81. The industrials, also fairly steadily climbing from the year's low of 137.30, reached a record 148.25.

The Friday climb of all three duplicated that of the week before when they also set new highs.

The general economy is booming, politics can influence individual traders, tradition calls for a summer rally in stock prices. All of these add up to cold calculation as to the course of stock prices.

But don't forget that other thing—the emotion which can work in short gusts (as on the day President Kennedy was killed) or in long cycles. In concentration it can be irresistible—and maybe right, maybe wrong.

Fashion Center Moves From Rome For Fall Exhibit

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Italian designers doffed their hats today as fashion showings for fall and winter switched from Rome to Florence.

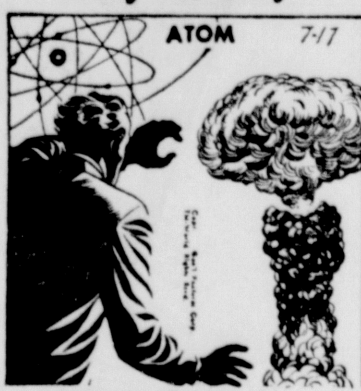

A millinery showing on the Pitti Palace runway, presented by La Familiare, Florence felt manufacturers, featured five of Italy's most creative hat designers.

Huge "Raphael" berets and tiny pillboxes are the outstanding shapes for fall, according to La Familiare. Furry beaver fells prevail.

Warm golden shades—beiges, browns, and apricot hues—are the millinery fashion colors for fall here. Black and white combinations and turquoise also are important.

The most imaginative millinery designs came from Canessa of Rome. Outstanding were

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Emotion or computers? What is sending the stock market averages up—hunches or cold calculations?

For two straight weeks all three of the Dow-Jones averages—30 industrials, 20 railroads, 15 utilities—have made new highs. This is the first time since 1929 that all three have set records in any one year.

Is it the economic outlook? Is it political excitement and predictions? And who is making this market—the average stock holder or the pros?

The professionals get most of the credit, but what makes them tick? Many think that calculation is the clue to the stock market behavior today even more than ever.

The tradition is that insiders with all the tips and prior knowledge coldly calculate how this or that stock or the market in general will react to any foreseeable set of events.

More recently the notion has grown that the big investors—a comparatively few well-heeled individuals, but even more the pension funds and other institutions—do the cold reasoning and buy or sell more or less in unison.

But veterans on Wall Street warn against this easy view of the market.

They point out that there are now estimated to be 17 million or more Americans holding stocks, each a potential buyer or seller. Most of them may belong to the oddlotter, the ones who trade in less than 100 shares at a time.

Pros tend to look down their noses at oddlotter as always wrong. Maybe they are, but they aren't without influence on stock price trends—such as the summer rally now intriguing the watchers of the stock market scene.

And pros are people, too. The institutional investors may seem impersonal, but individuals make the investing decisions. Right now is it emotion or calculation that determines?

Currently the force seems to be predominately bullish.

Friday the market saw 635 shares advance and 432. The popular averages were even more impressive.

The average high set Friday by the Dow-Jones industrials was 831.35, compared with a 1964 low of 766.08. The rails advanced to a record 220.98, an even more impressive advance from the 1964 low of 178.81. The industrials, also fairly steadily climbing from the year's low of 137.30, reached a record 148.25.

The Friday climb of all three duplicated that of the week before when they also set new highs.

The general economy is booming, politics can influence individual traders, tradition calls for a summer rally in stock prices. All of these add up to cold calculation as to the course of stock prices.

But don't forget that other thing—the emotion which can work in short gusts (as on the day President Kennedy was killed) or in long cycles. In concentration it can be irresistible—and maybe right, maybe wrong.

The 37th annual Woodstock Library Fair, which opens 10 a. m. Saturday, July 25, promises to be one of the most colorful with all visitors invited to come in costume. Numerous gifts including a 1964 Ford Falcon and an all-purpose prepaid $500 American Express credit card will be awarded fortunate participants in "Great Expectations." Distribution will take place at the close of the fair. For 37 years, the Woodstock Library has obtained 90 per cent of its operational expenses from this annual gala affair. Everyone who enjoys the artistic, colorful gaiety and a flare for the unusual is invited to attend.

Rocket Mouse Dies In Crash Saturday

MIDDLEBURG, N. Y. (AP)—"Gus," the rocket-riding mouse, is dead. His first and last journey into the wild blue yonder ended in a crash Saturday when a five-foot-long rocket, sent aloft by a group of space-minded youths, went astray. About 20 seconds after "lift-off" the two-ounce gray and white mouse crashed to his death in a field near this Schoharie County village. Gus' death angered humane society officials who had opposed the flight and who now promise to take legal action against the organizers of the experiment. About 400 persons watched Saturday as the rocket carrying "Gus" roared from its launching site. The solid-fuel rocket, designed to carry the mouse 6,000 feet straight up, went off instead at a gradually widening angle. When it reached a height of about 800 feet, the smoking rocket curved toward the ground. The two parachutes, which would have lowered "Gus" to earth in a capsule, failed to open. The rocket crashed about a half-mile from the launch site.

Costs to Collect

CHICAGO (AP)—The cost of collecting federal taxes is currently running 45 cents for every $100 of revenue. The Internal Revenue Service says that during 1962 it determined the ratio when the nation's taxpayers put a then record $99.4 billions in the government coffers. The present cost of 45 cents compares with 32 cents per $100 in 1944, the lowest on record, and the all-time high of $5.30 of 1871. When the graduated income tax began in 1913, the IRS spent $1.59 for every $100 it collected.

Rochester Man Is Held After Body Found in Auto

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A woman drove up to police headquarters with the body of another woman stashed in her automobile trunk. And a few minutes later, police charged a 34-year-old unemployed house painter with first-degree murder in the beating of the dead woman.

Jack A. Van Name said he struck 33-year-old Mrs. Nadine (Dee) Young, of Rochester, with his fists early Saturday after the couple had quarreled on a quiet city street, police said.

Van Name then called Mrs. Dorothy Clark, 33, also of Rochester, and asked her to meet him with her automobile, police reported.

Van Name drove the auto to the street where the argument had taken place.

Police said Mrs. Clark told them that she loaded something into the trunk, returned to the car, his face, hands and clothing covered with blood, and said, "I've just killed Dee."

Mrs. Clark later left Van Name at the Brick Church and Institute where he had a room.

Mrs. Clark drove to police headquarters Saturday afternoon, explained what she had seen and asked them to look into the trunk, police said.

Mrs. Young's body was in the trunk.

Van Name was arrested as he waited for Mrs. Clark on the institute steps. Mrs. Clark was not charged.

Mrs. Young was not living with her husband.

Police Seeking Clues To Syracuse Robbery

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Police sought information today in an effort to apprehend the armed robber who held up the Western Union Telegraph Co. office here and escaped with about $1,000 in cash.

Only one clerk, 25-year-old Robin Welch of Elbridge, was on duty during the holdup Saturday night.

Welch said the man "stuck a gun in my face and demanded the money."

Stanley J. Sheppard, manager of the Western Union office, said two packages containing $500 each and some loose bills were taken from the cash drawer behind the counter.

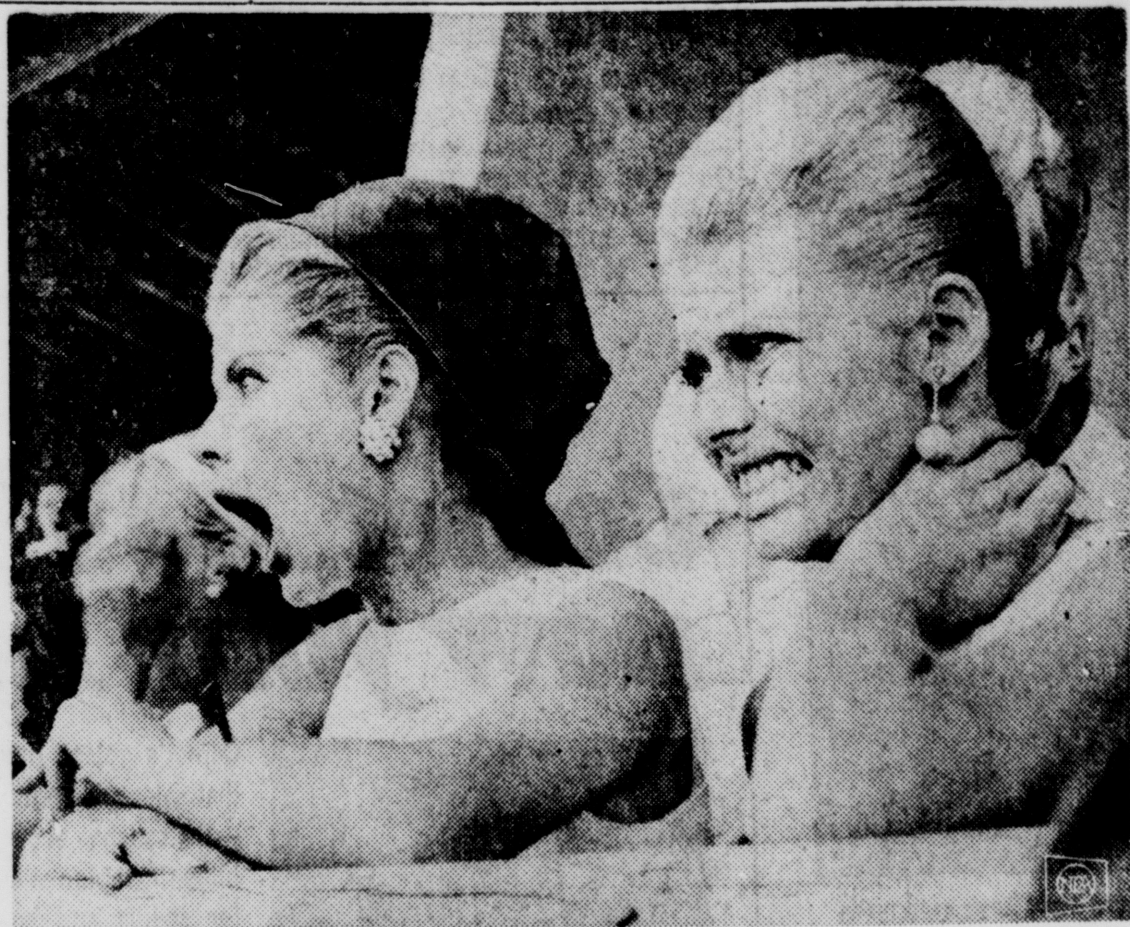

Welch triggered the burglar alarm as the robber left and said he attempted to follow the man but lost sight of him.

Deficit $8.3 Billion At Fiscal Year End

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government ended the 1964 fiscal year June 30 with a budget deficit of $8.3 billion—an amount $500 million less than the most recent official estimate.

President Johnson, announcing the final figures at a week-end news conference in Texas, said tax income increased and spending was lower than had been expected, and the combination cut the expected deficit. He had forecast a $10-billion deficit last January, and in May had reduced the forecast to $8.8 billion.

Johnson said spending during the fiscal year hit $97.7 billion, while tax receipts were $89.4 billion.

Dear Abby . . .

He's Overdoing It!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How does a father tell his daughter's fiancé that he hangs around her house entirely too much? He comes over here even when he knows our daughter isn't home. The young man has an apartment of his own, but he has started coming here straight from work every afternoon. My wife has her routine housework to do and she doesn't feel comfortable going about it with him in the house. He's a good-hearted fellow, and we don't want to hurt his feelings, but we don't think we should have to entertain him when our daughter isn't home. So how do we tell him?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Either the young man has been made to feel that he is welcome any time, or he is taking too much for granted. In any case, he should be set straight. And your daughter is the one who should do it.

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago I entrusted an important letter and some valuable literary material to a friend of mine, who promised that he would type them up for me. Every time I ask him for the material he makes some excuse. I have written letters to him asking him to return my material, typed up or not, but he ignores my letters. Can I accuse him of stealing them and have him arrested? I would like to teach him a lesson.

"N"

DEAR "N": Don't make any charges against anyone without first consulting some legal counsel. You find yourself in even more serious trouble than you hope to get your friend.

Two Die in Crash

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—A head-on automobile collision on U.S. Route 50 here Saturday killed Richard A. Berg of Jamestown, N.Y., and Ronald Wonderling, 29, of Warren, Pa. Both were said to be musicians. A telegram found in their car, addressed to Berg, read: "Hurry home. Love from Leota and the kids." Berg's address was listed as 601 Palmer, Jamestown, and Wonderling's as 424 Chestnut, Warren.

First Flight Test Made of Engines For Planet Travel

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration launched today its first flight test of electric engines—potential power plants for interplanetary travel. A four-stage Scout rocket thundered aloft on a mission designed to send two ion engines on an hour-long trajectory to an altitude of 2,500 miles and to a water landing 2,000 miles down range, east of Bermuda.

The flight was designed to provide 53 minutes of weightlessness during which NASA planned to operate and test a cesium-powered engine for about 20 minutes, then turn it off and test a mercury-powered motor for a similar period.

The engines work on the same principle. They expel electrified gas at velocities of more than 100,000 miles an hour.

Although their thrust will be slight, on a sustained basis in the near-vacuum of space it would be sufficient to accelerate spacecraft to the speeds required for the tremendous distances of interplanetary flight.

Kennedy Birthplace Is Historic Landmark

WASHINGTON (AP)—The birthplace of the late President John F. Kennedy is one of 96 additional places chosen as national historic landmarks, the Interior Department announced. The house is at 83 Beals St. in Brookline, Mass.

Among other places designated are the birthplace of President Woodrow Wilson in Staunton, Va., and the Washington home where Wilson lived until his death in 1924.

Shastri Brand of Humor

NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is a somewhat shy unassuming man but he has a strong sense of humor.

Not long ago, when Shastri was a cabinet minister, the doorbell rang at his home. Shastri opened the door.

"Tell the minister the stenographer he ordered have come," a visitor said somewhat curtly. "Wait a moment, please," said Shastri and he disappeared into the house without revealing his identity.

Chuckling at his practical joke, he then slipped behind his desk while a servant ushered in the visitors.

Charged With Assault

A third degree assault charge was lodged against Edgar R. Haynes, 55, of 127 Esopus Avenue, Town of Ulster, Saturday night after the Sheriff's office was notified by a member of the family that he had assaulted his wife, Helen, and a daughter, Lynda. Deputy Sheriffs Vincent Vandemark and Henry Polhamus conducted an investigation. Haynes was released from custody for his appearance later before Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn.

Thurmond Would Use Bombs in Laos, Viet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., advocating bombing of Communist supply routes and other facilities in Laos and North Viet Nam, says he would support "whatever measures are necessary to win" in that area. "If we first made up our minds that we're going to win, everything else would fall into place," Thurmond said during questioning Sunday on the recorded television program "Youth Wants to Know."

Rochester Man Is Held After Body Found in Auto

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A woman drove up to police headquarters with the body of another woman stashed in her automobile trunk. And a few minutes later, police charged a 34-year-old unemployed house painter with first-degree murder in the beating of the dead woman.

Jack A. Van Name said he struck 33-year-old Mrs. Nadine (Dee) Young, of Rochester, with his fists early Saturday after the couple had quarreled on a quiet city street, police said.

Van Name then called Mrs. Dorothy Clark, 33, also of Rochester, and asked her to meet him with her automobile, police reported.

Van Name drove the auto to the street where the argument had taken place.

Police said Mrs. Clark told them that he loaded something into the trunk, returned to the car, his face, hands and clothing covered with blood, and said, "I've just killed Dee."

Mrs. Clark later left Van Name at the Brick Church and Institute where he had a room.

Mrs. Clark drove to police headquarters Saturday afternoon, explained what she had seen and asked them to look into the trunk, police said.

Mrs. Young's body was in the trunk.

Van Name was arrested as he waited for Mrs. Clark on the institute steps. Mrs. Clark was not charged.

Mrs. Young was not living with her husband.

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Burton says his health has improved and he will be back on stage at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater tonight to resume his performance of "Hamlet."

The actor walked off Friday night, forcing cancellation of the evening show. Saturday's matinee and evening performances also were canceled. Burton has no understudy.

A spokesman for the theater said Burton is suffering from an inflamed nerve in his neck and shoulders.

Special Session GOP Desire for Penn Legislature

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Republican leaders reportedly are pressing for another special session of the legislature to reappoint the General Assembly for the second time in less than a year.

The Democratic legislative leadership endorsed the idea Sunday but for entirely different reasons than their GOP colleagues.

Gov. Scranton, meanwhile, has taken a non-committal stance on the subject for the present.

Reports out of San Francisco this past weekend, where the GOP national convention came to a close, had the state Republican leaders fearful of what effect Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy could have on the party's legislative candidates.

The leaders are represented as being of the opinion that the Democrats could win control of the state assembly with Goldwater's conservative views directing the national presidential campaign.

One high-ranking but unidentified senator was quoted in the Philadelphia Bulletin as saying "We'd better reappoint the state while we still have control of both Houses, rather than have the Democrats do it for us next January."

Judy Garland Has Wrist Injuries: London Report

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland was treated at a London hospital today for injuries to her wrists.

The 42-year-old actress and singer was discharged several hours after her admission to St. Stephen's Hospital, Chelsea.

A hospital statement said she was "suffering from minor injuries to her wrists."

After she was discharged, the hospital said Miss Garland had requested it not to disclose her whereabouts.

Miss Garland arrived in London three weeks ago with Mark Herron, an American actor with whom she was reported to have gone through a Chinese marriage ceremony in Hong Kong last month.

She said she would be in London several weeks on a vacation.

The singer was rushed to a Hong Kong hospital in a coma in May. Her personal physician, Dr. Lee Siegel, flew from Hollywood and reported she was suffering from pleurisy, the "aftermath of a coma of unknown origin."

Her sudden illness followed a stormy Australian concert tour. Herron said she was exhausted.

Miss Garland left the hospital June 1 and recuperated in Hong Kong.

A spokesman for her agent in London said he did not know how Miss Garland hurt her wrists.

Gov. Scranton, meanwhile, has taken a non-committal stance on the subject for the present.

Reports out of San Francisco this past weekend, where the GOP national convention came to a close, had the state Republican leaders fearful of what effect Sen. Barry Goldwater's candidacy could have on the party's legislative candidates.

The leaders are represented as being of the opinion that the Democrats could win control of the state assembly with Goldwater's conservative views directing the national presidential campaign.

One high-ranking but unidentified senator was quoted in the Philadelphia Bulletin as saying "We'd better reapportion the state while we still have control of both Houses, rather than have the Democrats do it for us next January."

Judy Garland Has Wrist Injuries: London Report

LONDON (AP) — Judy Garland was treated at a London hospital today for injuries to her wrists.

The 42-year-old actress and singer was discharged several hours after her admission to St. Stephen's Hospital, Chelsea.

A hospital statement said she was "suffering from minor injuries to her wrists."

After she was discharged, the hospital said Miss Garland had requested it not to disclose her whereabouts.

Miss Garland arrived in London three weeks ago with Mark Herron, an American actor with whom she was reported to have gone through a Chinese marriage ceremony in Hong Kong last month.

She said she would be in London several weeks on a vacation.

The singer was rushed to a Hong Kong hospital in a coma in May. Her personal physician, Dr. Lee Siegel, flew from Hollywood and reported she was suffering from pleurisy, the "aftermath of a coma of unknown origin."

Her sudden illness followed a stormy Australian concert tour. Herron said she was exhausted. Miss Garland left the hospital June 1 and recuperated in Hong Kong.

A spokesman for her agent in London said he did not know how Miss Garland hurt her wrists.

TEACHING HER DAUGHTER TO CURTSY

Q: When I was a little girl I was taught to curtsy when greeting my parents' guests. This was one of the things that every well brought up child was trained to do. One seldom sees this in the present day. I think it is a charming custom and would like to teach my young daughter to curtsy but don't want to do so if it is an outmoded custom. May I have your opinion on this?

A: While it is still perfectly proper for a little girl to curtsy when greeting and leaving her parents' friends, it is seldom done today outside of dancing school. In the present day, most little girls merely shake hands politely.

On Shaking Hands

Q: I am a woman in the early 30's and am confused about hand-shaking. Will you please tell me just when a woman is supposed to offer her hand?

A: When you are hostess, you must shake hands with every guest, man or woman, whom you have invited to a party. When you yourself are a guest, you shake hands with your host and hostess when greeting and leaving them. You also shake hands with a friend whom you haven't seen in a long time. When you are introduced, you offer your hand or not as you choose, but should anyone extend his or her hand to you, you must, of course, take it.

Seating Married Couple At A Wedding

Q: When a husband and wife attend a church wedding together, how are they properly seated? Do they walk up the aisle together preceded by the usher, or does the wife take the usher's arm and her husband follow behind them?

A: The wife takes the usher's arm and her husband follows them.

Turnau Performs Rossini's 'Turk' Friday With Revised Plot, English Translation

The Turnau Opera Players unveiled their second opera Friday night at the Byrdcliffe Theatre in Woodstock.

The opera was Rossini's little performed work The Turk in Italy. However this was a new version of the opera, with a revised plot by Boris Goldovsky and a new English translation by Sarah Caldwell, director of the Boston opera group, and Mr. Goldovsky. The music was revised by Helmut Wolfes. One may ask why tamper with the original? The answer is to make the opera more enjoyable for an English speaking audience. The plot is made easy to follow by eliminating numerous and unnecessary recitatives, or spoken dialog. The original libretto was written by Felice Romani, author of the Norma, Lucia, and Sonnambula librettos, just to name a few.

Outstanding in the cast were Carol Toscano as Fiorilla, Don Yule as her husband Geronio and Alan Baker as the poet.

There are hints of many other Rossini operas in The Turk. I found the Duet of Fiorilla and Geronio in the first act to be almost a duplication of the "Donne Donne" ("Women Women") duet of Figaro and Rosina from The Barber of Seville. There are also traces of his La Cenerentola (Cinderella) throughout the opera.

Richard Anderson was very good as the Turk. I feel he had the most difficult vocal line in the opera. There was a great deal of coloratura work, so closely associated with the Bel Canto operas. Mr. Anderson executed his runs and trills with agility and on pitch.

Tenor Alva Tripp as the lover, was not up to par. He is a fine tenor, perhaps overworked by last week's "Abduction." Lucille Sullam, as the gypsy Zaida, was good in her middle range but sounded strained above the staff. Lorine Buffington and Chester Thornhill were both very routing as the other gypsies.

Vocally speaking, the second performance on Saturday was even better than the first. The singers seemed much more secure in their roles. Alva Tripp sang with more assurance. Carol Toscano was lovely in her "Sad Is the Fate of All Women" aria, and Don Yule projected his part in an even more improved style.

Jeanne Doyle's settings and costumes were very colorful and imaginative. There was also a welcome addition of new lighting equipment. Adelaide Bishop, director of last season's Rigoletto and Rape of Lucretia, produced a sparkling performance.

The musical director for this production was Warren Wilson with Yehudi Wyner assisting. Their musicianship is really extraordinary. They kept the performance moving along at a jolly pace.

Let me just say that the real strength in Turnau is found in the ensemble work rather than individual performance. This is as it should be in a small repertory company.

I recommend the Turk for any

TEACHING HER DAUGHTER TO CURTSEY

Q: When I was a little girl I was taught to curtsy when greeting my parents' guests. This was one of the things that every well brought up child was trained to do. One seldom sees this in the present day. I think it is a charming custom and would like to teach my young daughter to curtsy but don't want to do so if it is an outmoded custom. May I have your opinion on this?

A: While it is still perfectly proper for a little girl to curtsy when greeting and leaving her parents' friends, it is seldom done today outside of dancing school. In the present day, most little girls merely shake hands politely.

On Shaking Hands

Q: I am a woman in the early 30's and am confused about hand-shaking. Will you please tell me just when a woman is supposed to offer her hand?

A: When you are hostess, you must shake hands with every guest, man or woman, whom you have invited to a party. When you yourself are a guest, you shake hands with your host and hostess when greeting and leaving them. You also shake hands with a friend whom you haven't seen in a long time. When you are introduced, you offer your hand or not as you choose, but should anyone extend his or her hand to you, you must, of course, take it.

Seating Married Couple At A Wedding

Q: When a husband and wife attend a church wedding together, how are they properly seated? Do they walk up the aisle together preceded by the usher, or does the wife take the usher's arm and her husband follow behind them?

A: The wife takes the usher's arm and her husband follows them.

The Mature Parent

(During her vacation, Muriel Lawrence is turning her column over to excerpts from "Neurosis and Human Growth," by Karen Horney, M. D. Copyright, 1950, by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York. Reprinted by permission.)

The "shoulds" operate on the premise that nothing should be, or is, impossible for oneself.

If that is so, then, logically, existing conditions need not be examined.

This trend is most apparent in application of demands directed towards the neurotic's past. Concerning his childhood, it is important to elucidate the influences which set his neurosis going but also to recognize his present attitudes toward his past adversities. But these attitudes are determined less by the good or bad done by him than by his present needs.

If he has developed, for instance, a general need to be all sweetness and light, he will spread a golden haze over his childhood. If he has forced his feelings into a straightjacket, he may feel that he does love his parents because he should love them. If he generally refuses to take any responsibility for his life, he may put all the blame for his difficulties on his parents.

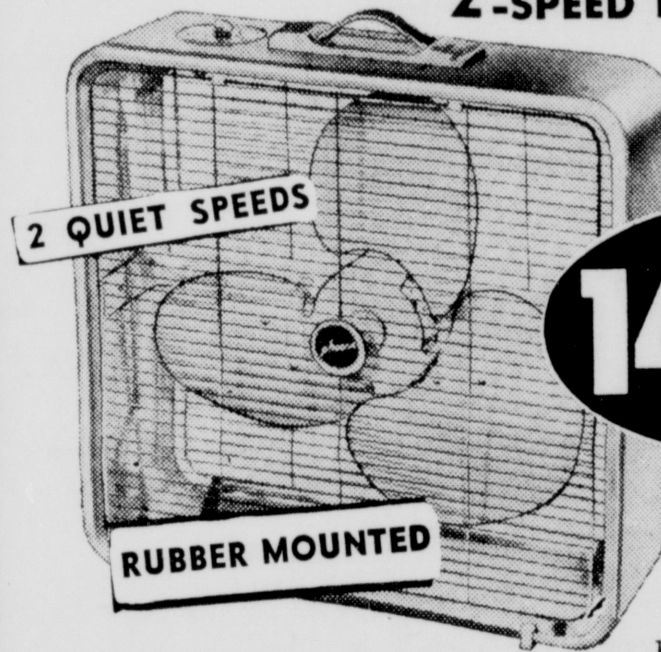

Or he may go to the opposite extreme and seemingly assume an absurd amount of responsibility for himself. His conscious attitude is quite objective and plausible. He may point out that his parents could not help having the way they did. He may himself wonder why he does not feel any resentment.

One of the reasons for the absence of conscious resentment is the retrospective "should" that interests us here. Though he is aware that what was perpetrated upon him was quite sufficient to crush anybody else, he should have come out of it unscathed. He should have had the inner strength and fortitude not to let these factors upset him. So, since they did, it proves that he was no good from the beginning. In other words, he is realistic up to a point. He would say, "Sure, that was a cesspool of hypocrisy and cruelty." But then his vision becomes blurred: "Although I was helplessly exposed to this atmosphere, I should have come out of it like a lily out of a swamp."

If he could assume a matter-of-fact responsibility for his life instead of such a spurious one, he would admit that early influences could not fail to mold him in an unfavorable way. And he would see that, no matter what the origin of his difficulties, they do disturb his present and future life. And for this reason he had better muster his energies to outgrow them. Instead he leaves the whole matter at the fantastic and futile level of his demand that he should not have been affected.

The Mature Parent

(During her vacation, Muriel Lawrence is turning her column over to excerpts from "Neurosis and Human Growth," by Karen Horney, M. D. Copyright, 1950, by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York. Reprinted by permission.)

The "shoulds" operate on the premise that nothing should be, or is, impossible for oneself.

If that is so, then, logically, existing conditions need not be examined.

This trend is most apparent in application of demands directed towards the neurotic's past. Concerning his childhood, it is important to elucidate the influences which set his neurosis going but also to recognize his present attitudes toward his past adversities. But these attitudes are determined less by the good or bad done by him than by his present needs.

If he has developed, for instance, a general need to be all sweetness and light, he will spread a golden haze over his childhood. If he has forced his feelings into a straightjacket, he may feel that he does love his parents because he should love them. If he generally refuses to take any responsibility for his life, he may put all the blame for his difficulties on his parents.

Or he may go to the opposite extreme and seemingly assume an absurd amount of responsibility for himself. His conscious attitude is quite objective and plausible. He may point out that his parents could not help behaving the way they did. He may himself wonder why he does not feel any resentment.

One of the reasons for the absence of conscious resentment is the retrospective "should" that interests us here. Though he is aware that what was perpetrated upon him was quite sufficient to crush anybody else, he should have come out of it unscathed. He should have had the inner strength and fortitude not to let these factors upset him. So, since they did, it proves that he was no good from the beginning. In other words, he is realistic up to a point. He would say, "Sure, that was a cesspool of hypocrisy and cruelty." But then his vision becomes blurred: "Although I was helplessly exposed to this atmosphere, I should have come out of it like a lily out of a swamp."

If he could assume a matter-of-fact responsibility for his life instead of such a spurious one, he would admit that early influences could not fail to mold him in an unfavorable way. And he would see that, no matter what the origin of his difficulties, they do disturb his present and future life. And for this reason he had better muster his energies to outgrow them. Instead he leaves the whole matter at the fantastic and futile level of his demand that he should not have been affected.

Significance of Wallace Withdrawal

Weekend Roundup Presented Of Political Developments

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace's abandonment of an independent presidential effort invited Sen. Barry Goldwater today to pursue an all-the-way conservative drive against President Johnson.

When Wallace announced Sunday he was giving up the effort to get his name on presidential ballots in 16 or more states, he removed a serious obstacle to Goldwater's chances of carrying several Southern states in the November battle with Johnson. Wallace appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Possible Rewards

The action offered the Republican presidential nominee some possible rewards in Dixie, if he maintains his conservative course, that would have to be weighed against what he might gain elsewhere if he yielded to intra-party pressure to swing toward the middle of the road. Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the vice presidential nominee, indicated he would like to see some overtures to the party's moderates and liberals in the Northern industrial states that would bring them around to active support of the national ticket.

But Miller said in response to questions on NBC's "Meet the Press" that failure to get the backing of such men as Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth E. Keating of New York, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey "won't be fatal."

Goldwater said in Phoenix, Ariz., he thinks he will do well in New York and Pennsylvania in November.

Favors Summit

Miller said he favors a summit meeting of Republican leaders of all shades of opinion to canvass the prospects for the campaign and to give their advice on strategy.

Goldwater, who returns to Washington today after a week-end in Phoenix, said during the California primary campaign in June he intended to call such a session. He has not mentioned it since his nomination.

The Arizona senator said "conferences that I will have nothing to do with" will go on during the next two weeks to

"plan the type of campaign we will conduct."

Asked who would attend, he replied: "The academic types, the engineer types and the political types."

Goldwater said that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had promised to campaign for him and would tell him soon how many speaking appearances "he could stand." He said he hopes Eisenhower will be able to campaign with "a half dozen to a dozen speeches."

Goldwater expressed surprise at Wallace's decision to quit his independent presidential movement but did not comment further. In Austin, Tex., White House press secretary George Roesly, said: "Gov. Wallace is entitled to any decision he wishes to make."

Wants to See Platforms

Wallace said he hadn't made up his mind whom he would support until after he sees the Democratic platform to be drafted at Atlantic City, N.J., next month.

Asked if he and Goldwater would welcome Wallace's support, the vice presidential nominee replied, "I don't think so, he's a Democrat." He said he welcomes the support of anyone who accepts the GOP platform but added he understands Wallace was dissatisfied with its civil rights plank.

He said it was difficult to assess the impact of Wallace's withdrawal, since the governor would have taken votes from Johnson in some states and from Goldwater in others.

In Augusta, Ga., Roy V. Harris, former state legislator and a campaign worker for Wallace, said he will organize a "Democrats for Goldwater" movement in the state.

Miller's Understanding

Miller was asked to explain what Goldwater meant when he said in his acceptance address that "extremism in defense of liberty is no vice and that moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue."

The vice presidential nominee replied that Goldwater was talking about "wholehearted devotion to the cause of freedom." The presidential nominee, Miller said, meant that he was opposed to "half-hearted" support of justice.

Miller said that was his understanding of the explanation Goldwater gave to Eisenhower in a conference here before both departed.

In an ABC program taped Friday before this conference, Eisenhower said Goldwater's statement "would seem to say that the end always justifies the means." He added that "the whole American system refutes that idea and that concept."

Miller indicated he thought Eisenhower regarded Goldwater's subsequent explanation as satisfactory.

Goldwater was asked to clarify the acceptance address statement that "history demonstrates that nothing prepares the way for tyranny more than the failure of public officials to keep the streets safe from bullies or marauders."

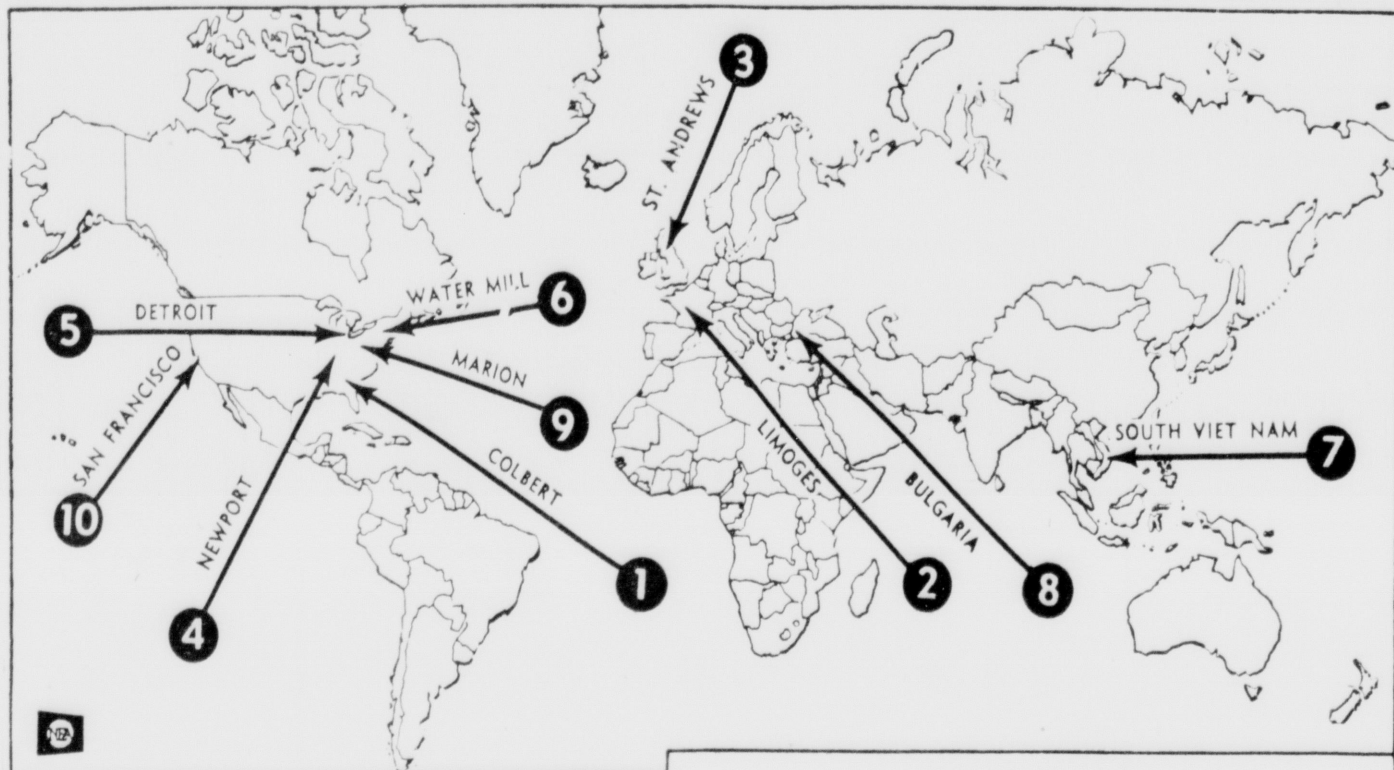

"I intend," he replied, "to set an example at the federal level. The president has no responsibility at the local level but he can set an example. We can see that the federal judges are of the highest quality. If they don't follow the law, there is always removal for cause."

Jamboree Activities Of Local Boy Scouts

By DAVID LEWIS
Scout Correspondent

Another day, another adventure is the promise each day at the National Jamboree of Boy Scouts at Valley Forge State Park, Pennsylvania.

Jamboree Troops 59 and 60 embracing about 74 Boy Scouts from Ulster and Greene Counties (Rip Van Winkle Council) had both planned a tour of the camp Friday.

We visited the famous bell chapel, historic arch, soldiers huts, and the artillery used. This tour took most of the morning and the afternoon was left for the boys.

Many went through the obstacle course while others tried to swap slides, neckerchiefs, and other odds and ends.

The conservation area was open for different projects. There are two awards given to contingents that earn or do special events in the Jamboree.

One is the adventure award given to a contingent that opens one of the two trails and that is required for the award.

The Nathan Hale award is the second awarded to a person who writes the best composition in 25 words or less on strengthening the American Heritage. There are 12 regions and one winner is picked in each region plus there is a winner among the 12 regions and he is placed in the national competition.

Later in the day we took our showers but unfortunately there were a few that were fooling around with the broken spigot and everyone was banned from the showers. We later went back and when everyone had quieted down and cooled off.

During supper Troop 59 experienced the same difficulty as many of us trying to level the stove so as not to burn the food. Later this was straightened out.

After supper the boys policed the camp and tried to cool off.

It is hot, much to hot for any sort of comfort and we all are wishing for rain to cool us off.

The big arena show took place at about 8 p. m. It started with a message by Chief Scout Executive Joseph Brunton Jr. who introduced Thomas J. Watson, president of the Boy Scouts of America, and the famous Lady Baden Powell, wife of the late Lord Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts movement.

A group of actors plus scouts led in a program that described our American Heritage.

The show traced the history from the Revolutionary War through the civil war. Lady

Slashing Attack Made 50 Miles From Saigon City

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In a slashing attack 50 miles southwest of Saigon, Communist guerrillas left the thriving district capital of Cai Be a shambles today with the bodies of about 40 women and children in the wreckage.

The Viet Cong reportedly reached the Vietnamese army post of about 200 men by blasting their way through huts occupied by military dependents. All the huts were burned. The 2000 or so civil guardsmen defending the town suffered 12 killed and about 20 wounded.

Intelligence officers believed the Viet Cong's crack 261st Battalion was the attacking force. The Cai Be district chief and most of his family were reported massacred. The guerrillas shot indiscriminately into all the huts.

First reports said the Viet Cong pulled out after about three hours of intense fighting, without overwhelming the main center of government resistance.

We arrived in Philadelphia about 10:30. We visited many historic sites such as the mint, Betsy Ross' Home, and many others. We ate a box lunch in Philadelphia and hiked to the waterfront to await the showboat. Boy was that boat elegant, even had a restaurant aboard. The tour lasted two hours and then we walked back to the bus depot.

We boarded the buses and headed back to Valley Forge. We were all starving and waiting for a good supper.

Many of us took refreshing showers. Man was it ever hot. Most uniforms were wet with perspiration.

Not all the troops have arrived and many will still be coming tonight.

Our thoughts now were of the ceremonies tomorrow (Friday).

Significance of Wallace Withdrawal

Weekend Roundup Presented Of Political Developments

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace's abandonment of an independent presidential effort invited Sen. Barry Goldwater today to pursue an all-the-way conservative drive against President Johnson.

When Wallace announced Sunday he was giving up the effort to get his name on presidential ballots in 16 or more states, he removed a serious obstacle to Goldwater's chances of carrying several Southern states in the November battle with Johnson. Wallace appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation."

Possible Rewards

The action offered the Republican presidential nominee some possible rewards in Dixie, if he maintains his conservative course, that would have to be weighed against what he might gain elsewhere if he yielded to intra-party pressure to swing toward the middle of the road.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the vice presidential nominee, indicated he would like to see some overtures to the party's moderates and liberals in the Northern industrial states that would bring them around to active support of the national ticket.

But Miller said in response to questions on NBC's "Meet the Press" that failure to get the backing of such men as Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating of New York, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Clifford P. Case of New Jersey "won't be fatal."

Goldwater said in Phoenix, Ariz., he thinks he will do well in New York and Pennsylvania in November.

Favors Summit

Miller said he favors a summit meeting of Republican leaders of all shades of opinion to canvass the prospects for the campaign and to give their advice on strategy.

Goldwater, who returns to Washington today after a weekend in Phoenix, said during the California primary campaign in June he intended to call such a session. He has not mentioned it since his nomination.

The Arizona senator said "conferences that I will have nothing to do with" will go on during the next two weeks to

"plan the type of campaign we will conduct."

Asked who would attend, he replied: "The academic types, the engineer types and the political types."

Goldwater said that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had promised to campaign for him and would tell him soon how many speaking appearances "he could stand." He said he hopes Eisenhower will be able to campaign with "a half dozen to a dozen speeches."

Goldwater expressed surprise at Wallace's decision to quit his independent presidential movement but did not comment further. In Austin, Tex., White House press secretary George Reedy, said: "Gov. Wallace is entitled to any decision he wishes to make."

Wants to See Platforms

Wallace said he hadn't made up his mind whom he would support until after he sees the Democratic platform to be drafted at Atlantic City, N.J., next month.

Asked if he and Goldwater would welcome Wallace's support, the vice presidential nominee replied, "I don't think so, he's a Democrat." He said he welcomes the support of anyone who accepts the GOP platform but added he understands Wallace was dissatisfied with its civil rights plank.

He said it was difficult to assess the impact of Wallace's withdrawal, since the governor would have taken votes from Johnson in some states and from Goldwater in others.

In Augusta, Ga., Roy V. Harris, former state legislator and a campaign worker for Wallace, said he will organize a "Democrats for Goldwater" movement in the state.

The Wallace electors in Alabama are pledged not to vote for a Republican but on the other hand are not pledged to vote for a Democrat.

Miller's Understanding

Miller was asked to explain what Goldwater meant when he said in his acceptance address that extremism in defense of liberty is no vice and that moderation in pursuit of justice is no virtue.

The vice presidential nominee replied that Goldwater was talking about "wholehearted devotion to the cause of freedom." The presidential nominee, Miller said, meant that he was opposed to "half-hearted" support of justice.

Miller said that was his understanding of the explanation Goldwater gave to Eisenhower in a conference here before both departed.

In an ABC program taped Friday before this conference, Eisenhower said Goldwater's statement "would seem to say that the end always justifies the means." He added that "the whole American system refutes that idea and that concept."

Miller indicated he thought Eisenhower regarded Goldwater's subsequent explanation as satisfactory.

Goldwater was asked to clarify the acceptance address statement that "history demonstrates that nothing prepares the way for tyranny more than the failure of public officials to keep the streets safe from bullies or marauders."

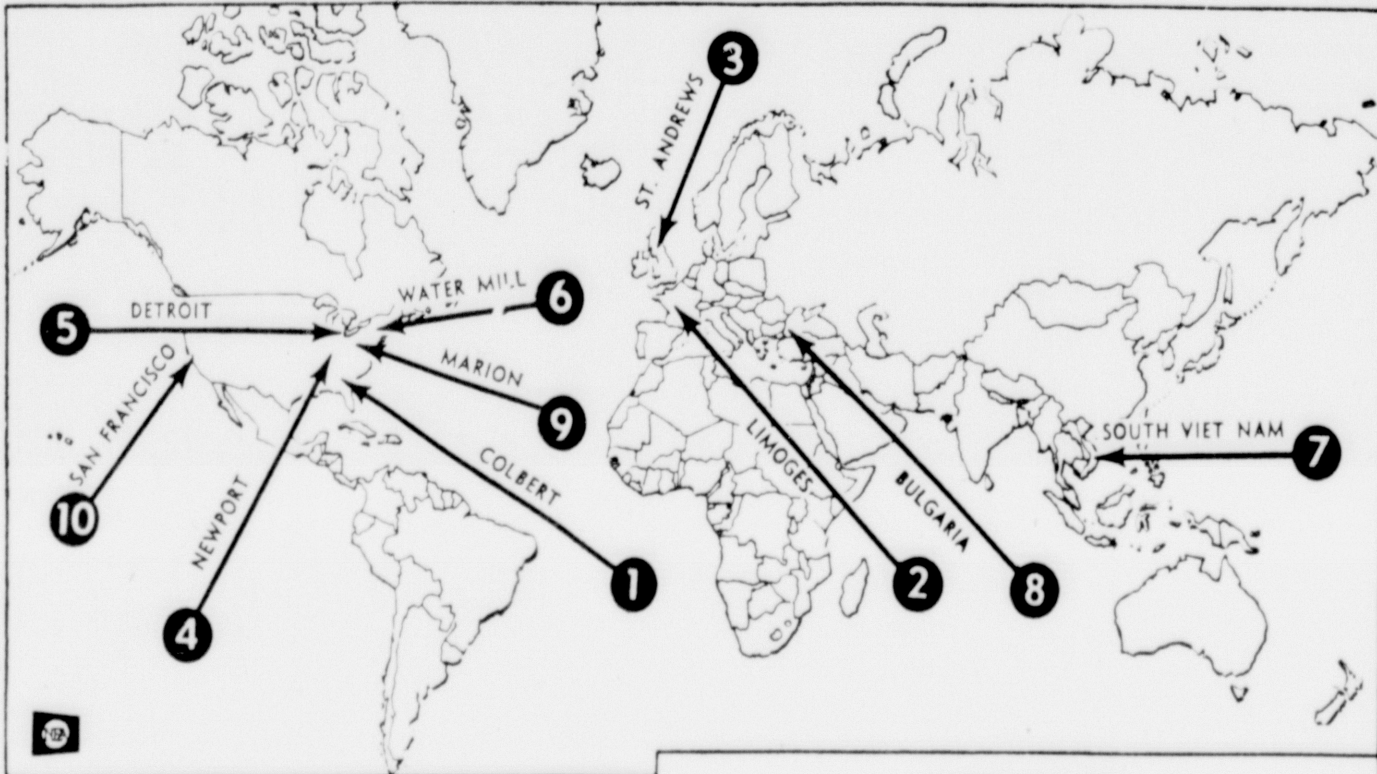

"I intend," he replied, "to set an example at the federal level. The president has no responsibility at the local level but he can set an example. We can see that the federal judges are of the highest quality. If they don't follow the law, there is always removal for cause."

Jamboree Activities Of Local Boy Scouts

By DAVID LEWIS
Scout Correspondent

Another day, another adventure is the promise each day at the National Jamboree of Boy Scouts at Valley Forge State Park, Pennsylvania.

Jamboree Troops 59 and 60 embracing about 74 Boy Scouts from Ulster and Greene Counties (Rip Van Winkle Council) had both planned a tour of the camp Friday.

We visited the famous bell chapel, historic arch, soldiers' huts, and the artillery used. This tour took most of the morning and the afternoon was left for the boys.

Many went through the obstacle course while others tried to swap slides, neckerchiefs, and other odds and ends. The conservation area was open for different projects. There are two awards given to contingents that earn or do special events in the Jamboree.

One is the adventure award given to a contingent that opens one of the two trails and that is required for the award.

The Nathan Hale award is the second awarded to a person who writes the best composition in 25 words or less on strengthening the American Heritage.

There are 12 regions and one winner is picked in each region plus there is a winner among the 12 regions and he is placed in the national competition. Later in the day we took our showers but unfortunately there were a few that were fooling around with the broken spigot and everyone was banned from the showers. We later went back and when everyone had quieted down and cooled off.

During supper Troop 59 experienced the same difficulty as many of us trying to level the stove so as not to burn the food. Later this was straightened out.

After supper the boys policed the camp and tried to cool off. It is hot, much to hot for any sort of comfort and we all are wishing for rain to cool us off.

The big arena show took place at about 8 p. m. It started with a message by Chief Scout Executive Joseph Brunton Jr. who introduced Thomas J. Watson, president of the Boy Scouts of America, and the famous Lady Baden Powell, wife of the late Lord Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts movement.

A group of actors plus scouts led in a program that described our American Heritage.

The show traced the history from the Revolutionary War through the civil war. Lady

Slashing Attack Made 50 Miles From Saigon City

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In a slashing attack 50 miles southwest of Saigon, Communist guerrillas left the thriving district capital of Cai Be a shambles today with the bodies of about 40 women and children in the wreckage.

The Viet Cong reportedly reached the Vietnamese army post of about 200 men by blasting their way through huts occupied by military dependents.

All the huts were burned. The 200 or so civil guardsmen defending the town suffered 12 killed and about 20 wounded.

Intelligence officers believed the Viet Cong's crack 261st Battalion was the attacking force.

The Cai Be district chief and most of his family were reportedly massacred. The guerrillas shot indiscriminately into all the huts.

First reports said the Viet Cong pulled out after about three hours of intense fighting, without overwhelming the main center of government resistance.

Orange School Teacher's Death Termed Suicide

A 26-year-old Orange County school teacher was found dead of a bullet wound of the head Saturday afternoon in Old Castle Point Road near Chelsea, Town of Fishkill, according to State Police.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Chester H. Golding, Wappingers Falls, said Salvatore DiCesare, of 25 Lutheran Street, Newburgh, was the victim of suicide. A formal inquest will be conducted later.

The body was found near DiCesare's parked automobile.

DiCesare was a sixth-grade teacher in Florida High School, according to Amy Bull Christ, district superintendent of Orange and Ulster County Schools. DiCesare, a 1962 graduate of Danbury (Conn.) State College, had taught at the Florida School the last two years. It was reported.

We arrived in Philadelphia about 10:30. We visited many historic sites such as the mini, Betsy Ross' Home, and many others. We ate a box lunch in Philadelphia and hiked to the waterfront to await the showboat. Boy was that boat elegant, even had a restaurant aboard.

The tour lasted two hours and then we walked back to the bus depot.

Everyone was excited because this is the day we were to tour Philadelphia and take an excursion on the Delaware in a paddle wheel boat. After breakfast we had a flag ceremony and were briefed in on what was to happen.

We boarded the buses and headed back to Valley Forge. We were all starving and waiting for a good supper.

Many of us took refreshing showers. Man was it ever hot. Most uniforms were wet with perspiration.

Not all the troops have arrived and many will still be coming tonight.

Our thoughts now were of the ceremonies tomorrow (Friday).

Hot Weather Keeps Matinee Crowd Way Down

By ED PALLADINO
 Freeman Sports Staff

Hot, humid weather held the afternoon crowd below expectations but Monticello Raceway played to a packed house in the evening as the second twinbill of the season was held.

Only 4,956 were in attendance to watch Stanley Dancer's Sly Yankee capture the Franklin E. Devlin pace as the feature of the matinee program, which featured 10 races.

The temperature was in the 90s and there wasn't even a small breeze blowing when 2:30 post time came around on Saturday afternoon. As a result, the record of 7,011, set two weeks ago, was never challenged.

However, the evening program was something else. There were 11,820 and a total of $611,159 was stuffed into the machines. Combined with the $344,150 wagered in the afternoon, it fell short of a million at $955,309.

Just Jamie, handled by the veteran William Gilmour, captured the $5,000 featured trot at the night session. In winning his first race in 11 starts, the four-year-old brown gelding beat off a late challenge by Valiant Ruler and crossed the finish line one and a half lengths ahead of the runnerup.

Those who viewed the action saw another driving show by Lucien Fontaine, one of the most popular reinsmen ever to appear at the Sullivan County oval.

Fontaine, making a belated bid once again for driving honors, brought home two winners in the afternoon and repeated his "double" at night, including the second half of the Twin Double, which returned $3,597.40.

Fontaine's winners were Music Box (5.50), Meda Adios (21.30), Ruby Doby Doo (8.30) and Sailing Sally (8.30).

TRICK JOTTINGS. Franklin E. Devlin, president of the Raceway, made a quick and accurate move during the matinee program. When Julia's Jet driven by Joe Tomasino, failed to come up to the starting gate, Tomasino headed the pacer back to the paddock, despite the fact that the race was starting. Devlin ordered immediate refunds to those who bet Tomasino in the race and in the twin double.

It's also possible that the driver might receive something from the judges for not continuing in the race. . . Ed Golemboski, who has done an outstanding job as publicity director at the Matinee M, has resigned to take a post on the sports department of the Middletown T-H Record.

Despite the high temperatures, the track was in splendid condition. The dust, which ordinarily goes with dry climates, just wasn't there, thanks to the special attention given to the racing strip. . . The next twinbill is slated for Saturday, Aug. 1. . . The spanking new General Sullivan room, an additional plush dining area at the Raceway, was filled to capacity.

Those who enjoy Chinese food might try it in the General Sullivan room. It's air conditioned, the atmosphere is wonderful and there's closed circuit television.

Mrs. Bower Captures Women's State Title

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Albert Bower, mother of four and a polished golfer, has something new she can polish at home—the silver trophy she received for winning the State Women's Amateur Golf championship.

She won it Saturday by defeating game, but footsore Mrs. Maxon Berger of Buffalo, 6 and 5, in their scheduled 36-hole final at Dutchess Golf and Country Club.

In making her first bid for the New York title, Mrs. Bower added the championship to her collection of titles from three other states.

Mrs. Hallenbeck Wins 6th Straight Seniors

Mrs. G. R. Hallenbeck of Catskill captured her sixth straight Northeastern Women's Seniors' championship Friday by adding an 82 to a first round 76 and finishing with 158 at the Woodstock Country Club.

Ten strokes behind the winner was Mrs. Alton Mendelson of Colonie. She fired 88-80-168.

Mrs. Thomas Beck, Wolferts Roost, playing in her first Seniors' event, garnered the low aggregate net award. She also had the low gross score other than that of the two leaders, 83. Second aggregate net went to Mrs. C. A. Demarest, Stamford, with 144.

Old Capital Motors Advance Nichols To 3rd District Playoffs

Bach's 1-Hitter Paces Kingston To 12-0 Decision

Brian Bach hurled a one-hitter and the Old Capital Motors team advanced to the District 3 American Legion playoffs with a 12-0 whitewash of Highland Post 193 at Dietz Stadium.

The All-DUSO hurler fanned 13 batters and had the losers under complete control. Kingston clinched the game with a seven run rally in the third inning.

Left fielder Paul Gruner struck five straight hits, including a triple to pace the locals. John Crespinio had a pair of doubles. Catcher Paul Natale slammed three singles and Dom Berardi had two hits.

Kingston will play at Bleeker Stadium, Albany on Friday night. Pairings for the 3rd district tourney will be announced later in the week.

Nichols Wins PGA With 271

By JIM BECKER
 Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If Bobby Nichols had fallen off a cliff he'd have won the high-diving championship on the way down.

This was the week when he could have gotten down in two strokes from the deck of a smiling ship.

There apparently is no oil in the area of the Columbus Country Club, or Nichols would have struck it with a seven-iron.

Life was like that for Nichols, the 28-year-old Louisville boy who won the PGA Golf Tournament Sunday by three strokes with a record total of 271, nine under par. About 71 of his shots were downright impossible.

"I couldn't believe them myself but I have witnesses," Nichols said.

The baby-faced youngster, 6-foot-2 and 200 pounds, finished with an astounding 67 that held off an incredible 64 by defending champion Jack Nicklaus, who was playing before the home folks.

Nicklaus made up five strokes on Arnold Palmer in the final round, playing head-to-head with Palmer before an enormous gallery that trooped through the broiling Ohio sunshine.

They tied for second, at 274, three strokes back.

That was the best finish yet for Palmer in the PGA, the only major title he has never won—but still no cigar for the general of Arnie's Army.

It made three runner-up finishes this year for Nicklaus in major championships, the Masters, the British Open, and the PGA, and meant that big Jack will not be around for the ultrarich television world series.

8. COLE'S HOSS couldn't get to the pole and was burned out in a 1:03 half. BARON RUDOLPH hasn't won this year and is overdue. ESKAY'S EDDIE won last easily but the track was off.

9. HERB SCOTT is razor sharp. Seeks third straight. HOBO TOMLEN has been the victim of bad racing luck. Tab for an upset. RUTH BELL is almost always close at the finish.

Has 709 Foursome

Clara Richards totaled 189, 125, 183 and 212 for 709 in the Ferrado Women's Summer Invitational. Results: Kingston Glass Co. 2, Drive In Motors 2; Lillian's Beauty Salon 2; Petersen Construction 1; WGB Oil Clarifier 3; Roland A. Augustine 1.

Ugh.

This is a awful picture of a Volkswagen. It's just not us.

We don't go in much for trading bees, sales jamborees or assorted powwows. Maybe it's because we don't quite understand the system.

We've never figured out why they run clearance sales on brand new cars. If there are cars left over every year, why make so many in the first place?

And how come the price goes down, even though the cars are still brand new? How does the poor guy who bought one last week feel about this week's prices?

How can a dealer keep enough parts on hand when they all keep changing? How can a mechanic keep track of what he's doing? It's all very confusing. Either we're way behind the times. Or way ahead.

Hot Weather Keeps Matinee Crowd Way Down

By ED PALLADINO
 Freeman Sports Staff

Hot, humid weather held the afternoon crowd below expectations but Monticello Raceway played to a packed house in the evening as the second twinbill of the season was held.

Only 4,956 were in attendance to watch Stanley Dancer's Sly Yankee capture the Franklin E. Devlin pace as the feature of the matinee program, which featured 10 races.

The temperature was in the 90s and there wasn't even a small breeze blowing when 2:30 post time came around on Saturday afternoon. As a result, the record of 7,011, set two weeks ago, was never challenged.

However, the evening program was something else. There were 11,820 and a total of $611,159 was stuffed into the machines. Combined with the $344,150 wagered in the afternoon, it fell short of a million at $955,309.

Just Jamie, handled by the veteran William Gilmour, captured the $3,000 featured trot at the night session. In winning his first race in 11 starts, the four-year-old brown gelding beat off a late challenge by Valiant Ruler and crossed the finish line one and a half lengths ahead of the runnerup.

Those who viewed the action saw another driving show by Lucien Fontaine, one of the most popular reinmen ever to appear at the Sullivan County oval.

Fontaine, making a belated bid once again for driving honors, brought home two winners the afternoon and repeated his "double" at night, including the second half of the Twin Double, which returned $3,597.40.

Fontaine's winners were Music Box (5:50), Media Adios (21:30), Ruby Duby Doo (8:30) and Sailing Sally (8:30).

TRACK JOTTINGS. Franklin E. Devlin, president of the Raceway, made a quick and accurate move during the matinee program. When Julia's Jett, driven by Joe Tomasino, failed to come up to the starting gate, Tomasino headed the pacer back to the paddock, despite the fact that the race was starting.

Devlin ordered immediate refunds to those who bet Tomasino in the race and in the twin double. It's also possible that the driver might receive something from the judges for not continuing in the race. . . Ed Golemboski, who has done an outstanding job as publicity director at the Mighty M, has resigned to take a post on the sports department of the Middletown T-H Record.

Despite the high temperatures, the track was in splendid condition. The dust, which ordinarily goes with dry climates, just wasn't there, thanks to the special attention given to the racing strip. The next twinbill is slated for Saturday, Aug. 1. . . The spanking new General Sullivan room, an additional plush dining area at the Raceway, was filled to capacity. Those who enjoy Chinese food might try it in the General Sullivan room. It's air conditioned, the atmosphere is wonderful and there's closed circuit television.

 CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran outfielder Minoso, put on waivers earlier in the week by the Chicago White Sox, was signed by Indianapolis of the Pacific Coast League Sunday.

Tops Mrs. Berger, 6 and 5
 MRS. ALBERT BERGER, mother of four and a polished golfer, has something new she can polish at home—the silver trophy she received for winning the State Women's Amateur Golf championship.

She won it Saturday by defeating game, but footsore Mrs. Maxon Berger of Buffalo, 6 and 5, in their scheduled 36-hole final at Dutchess Golf and Country Club.

In making her first bid for the New York title, Mrs. Berger added the championship to her collection of titles from three other states.

At Woodstock CC
 Mrs. G. R. Hallenbeck of Catskill captured her sixth straight Northeastern Women's Seniors' championship Friday by adding an 82 to a first round 76 and finishing with 158 at the Woodstock Country Club.

Ten strokes behind the winner was Mrs. Alton Mendelson of Colonie. She fired 88-80-168. Mrs. Thomas Beck, Wolferts Roost, playing in her first Seniors' event, garnered the low aggregate net award. She also had the low gross score other than that of the two leaders, 83.

Second aggregate net went to Mrs. C. A. Demarest, Stamford, with 144.

Old Capital Motors Advance Nichols To 3rd District Playoffs

Bach's 1-Hitter Paces Kingston To 12-0 Decision

Brian Bach hurled a one-hitter and the Old Capital Motors team advanced to the District 3 American Legion playoffs with a 12-0 whitewash of Highland Post 193 at Dietz Stadium.

The All-DUSO hurler fanned 13 batters and had the losers under complete control. Kingston clinched the game with a seven run rally in the third inning.

Left fielder Paul Gruner stroked five straight hits, including a triple to pace the locals. John Crespinio had a pair of doubles. Catcher Paul Natale slammed three singles and Dom Bernard had two hits.

Kingston will play at Bleeker Stadium, Albany on Friday night. Pairings for the 3rd district tourney will be announced later in the week.

It happened in the court-room during the trial of a husky young man who was charged with assault and battery. Throughout an especially severe cross-examination the defendant stoutly maintained that he had merely pushed the plaintiff "a little bit."

Prosecutor — Well, about how hard?

Defendant — Oh, just a little bit.

Prosecutor — Now, for the benefit of the judge and the jury, you will please step down here and, with me for the subject, illustrate just how hard you mean.

Owing to the unmerciful badgering which the witness had just been through, the prosecutor thought that the young man would perhaps overdo the matter to get back at him, and thus incriminate himself.

The defendant descended as per schedule, and approached the waiting attorney. When he reached him the spectators were astonished to see him slap the lawyer in the face, kick him in the shins, seize him bodily, and, finally, with a supreme effort, lift him from the floor and hurl him prostrate across a table.

Turning from the bewildered prosecutor, he faced the court and explained mildly:

Bob Botsford Wins 7th Wiltwyck Invitational Golf Tourney

Gets 2-Up Decision Over Burych in Finals

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

After blowing a pair of chances on the 12th and 17th holes, hard hitting Bob Botsford of the Dutchess Golf and Country Club in Poughkeepsie sank a 12-foot putt on the 18th hole and captured the 7th annual Wiltwyck Invitational Golf tournament, 2-up, over veteran John Burych, a former Wiltwyck player and now out of the Flanders Valley club in New Jersey.

The final match, which was delayed about 20 minutes because of a sudden thundershower, produced some excellent golf and a pair of seemingly impossible pars, one by each player.

Botsford, who has entered this tournament each year and lost in the 1960 finals to Harvey Bostic, moved in front on the 9th hole and then retained his lead on the back nine, despite some anxious moments and a couple of brief flurries by Burych, who scrambled to stay close.

In fact, just when it appeared as if the contestants would be starting a sudden death playoff, Botsford made a near impossible par on the 18th hole to clinch the match.

The former Poughkeepsie High School ace and now the top performer in Dutchess County hit a good tee shot on the hole. However, his second shot went well past the green and landed on the walk going to the clubhouse. The ball was in between the trees bordering the walk.

Meanwhile, Burych was on the green in two. Botsford then uncocked a great shot. He gave the little white ball a push, shoved it between the trees and it landed a dozen feet from the cup.

Burych was a little short on his first putt, putting him only inches from the cup. This left it completely up to Botsford. A par 4 would win the match and a bogey would send it into a playoff.

Clinches Title

Unruffled, the Poughkeepsie better took aim and putted. The ball went into the cup and Botsford became the first champion other than a Wiltwyck player to win the tournament.

TOURNAMENT FINALISTS—John Burych, left, and Bob Botsford were finalists in the 7th annual Wiltwyck Invitational golf tournament. Botsford won the championship, 2 and 1, with a par 4 on the 18th and final hole. (Freeman photo)

For sheer drama, the par 4 which Burych recorded on the 14th hole will never be forgotten. His first shot was pulled way to the left and the ball was near the water. The second shot hit the trees on the fairway and plunked to the ground, smack in the middle of the brush.

Burych promptly sent the ball out and it landed on the green, only 12 feet from the cup. He sank the par without having the ball touch the fairway.

The former Wiltwyck player took an early lead over Botsford, winning the fourth hole with a par 4 and the fifth with a birdie 3. However, the champion moved in front for good by winning the seventh, eighth and ninth holes with pars while Burych bogied them. This put Botsford 1-up after nine.

Takes 2-Up Lead

They halved the 10th hole. On the 11th, Botsford's tee shot landed four feet from the cup and he made the putt for a birdie 2, giving him a 2-up margin.

After both had teed off on the 12th, the downpour came and play was suspended. When it was resumed, Botsford had a grand chance to take a commanding lead. He was on the green of the par 5 hole in three strokes while it took Burych four strokes to hit the green.

Here, the champion faltered for the first time. He three-putted from 15 feet while his opponent took two strokes to sink the ball, giving both of them a bogie six.

Botsford stayed 2-up through the 13th and 14th, thanks to the great recovery by Burych on the 14th. On the 15th, Botsford hooked his tee shot near the rough and his chip shot was poor. Burych, playing steady if not spectacular golf, took a bogie five but cut the lead in half as Botsford was forced to settle for six.

Burych stayed in the chase by canning a 10-footer for a par on the 16th. On the 17th, Botsford missed another chance to win the match when his 4-foot try for a birdie rimmed the lip of the cup and failed to drop. This sent the match to the 18th hole and Botsford thrilled the gallery with his great recovery.

In reaching the finals, Burych disposed of Frank Bitzko, Dutchess, 4 and 3; Mark Skrowinski, Pittsfield, 6 and 5; and Ricky Barthel, Twaalfskill, 2 and 1.

Botsford won from George Hughes, Twaalfskill, 3 and 2; Ricky Bates, Stamford, 2 and 1 and Leon Randall, Wiltwyck, 1-up, in one of the best matches of the tournament.

Other Winners

Medalist—Leon Randall, Wiltwyck, 67.

National Clay Courts title Sunday, it's now a toss-up which may be the biggest gun in the U.S. Davis Cup defense.

Ralston, a half-foot taller, needed only 64 minutes to polish off the 5-foot-8 McKinley in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. McKinley's touted service was broken seven times.

That smashed McKinley's bid to become the first three-straight National Clay Court champ since Bobby Riggs did it in 1937-38. It also reversed last year's final when McKinley beat Ralston 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

But the outcome failed to ruffle the buddy act between McKinley and Ralston, who between them accounted for the 3-2 Davis Cup dethroning of Australia last year and brought the Cup to America for the first time since 1959.

Shortly after Ralston's precise play had McKinley mumbling such self-reprimands as "I should have stayed in bed," the two teamed to dethrone Northwestern University's Big Ten pair of Marty Riesen and Clark Graebner, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 for the clay court doubles title.

The women's singles crown easily was recaptured by Nancy Richey, daughter of a Dallas tennis pro, whose varied game bewildered newly wed Carole Caldwell Graebner, 6-2, 6-1.

DeWitt Saves Decision With Relief Stint

Glen DeWitt was Horatio at the Bridge Saturday as the Kingston Nationals nipped Clarkstown, 7-6, at Nanuet, to advance in the Babe Ruth tournament. The locals will make their next start Saturday, 2 o'clock at Schenectady. A win there will advance them to the state finals at Valley Stream.

DeWitt relieved starter Greg Rios with a runner on third, a run in and no outs in the seventh inning. He proceeded to strike out two batters and get the third to hit an infield pop, leaving the tying run perched on third base.

The locals came from behind to score the exciting triumph. Trailing, 5-3, starting the seventh, manager John (Daisy) Schatzel's team tallied four times to clinch the decision.

Peter Watzka singled and John Watzka walked to start the uprising. Milt Grover doubled to left for one run but John Watzka was cut down at the plate. Grover was then picked off second and tagged trying to reach third.

Ed Argulewicz kept the locals alive by beating out an infield out. Charles Lav and Rios singled and then Ron Valle's fly ball was dropped, scoring the winning runs.

Kingston scored a marker in the third and two in the fourth while Clarkstown had two runs in the fourth and three in the sixth to take the lead. The home side added another in the seventh before DeWitt slammed the door.

Bob Botsford Wins 7th Wiltwyck Invitational Golf Tourney

Gets 2-Up Decision Over Burych in Finals

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

After blowing a pair of chances on the 12th and 17th holes, hard hitting Bob Botsford of the Dutchess Golf and Country Club in Poughkeepsie sank a 12-foot putt on the 18th hole and captured the 7th annual Wiltwyck Invitational Golf tournament, 2-up, over veteran John Burych, a former Wiltwyck player and now out of the Flanders Valley club in New Jersey.

The final match, which was delayed about 20 minutes because of a sudden thundershower, produced some excellent golf and a pair of seemingly impossible pars, one by each player.

Botsford, who has entered this tournament each year and lost in the 1960 finals to Harvey Bostic, moved in front on the 9th hole and then retained his lead on the back nine despite some anxious moments and a couple of brief flurries by Burych, who scrambled to stay close.

In fact, just when it appeared as if the contestants would be starting a sudden death playoff, Botsford made a near impossible par on the 18th hole to clinch the match.

The former Poughkeepsie High School ace and now the top performer in Dutchess County hit a good tee shot on the hole. However, his second shot went well past the green and landed on the walk going to the clubhouse. The ball was in between the trees bordering the walk.

Meanwhile, Burych was on the green in two. Botsford then uncorked a great shot. He gave the little white pill a push, shoved it between the trees and it landed a dozen feet from the cup.

Burych was a little short on his first putt, putting him only inches from the cup. This left it completely up to Botsford. A par 4 would win the match and a bogey would send it into a playoff.

Unruffled, the Poughkeepsie better took aim and putted. The ball went into the cup and Botsford became the first champion other than a Wiltwyck player to win the tournament.

TOURNAMENT FINALISTS—John Burych, left, and Bob Botsford were finalists in the 7th annual Wiltwyck Invitational golf tournament. Botsford won the championship, 2 and 1, with a par 4 on the 18th and final hole. (Freeman photo)

For sheer drama, the par 4 which Burych recorded on the 14th hole will never be forgotten. His first shot was pulled way to the left and the ball was near the water. The second shot hit the trees on the fairway and plunked to the ground, smack in the middle of the brush.

Burych promptly sent the ball out and it landed on the green, only 12 feet from the cup. He sank the par without having the ball touch the fairway.

The former Wiltwyck player took an early lead over Botsford, winning the fourth hole with a par 4 and the fifth with a birdie 3. However, the champion moved in front for good by winning the seventh, eighth and ninth holes with pars while Burych bogied them. This put Botsford 1-up after nine.

Takes 2-Up Lead
They halved the 10th hole. On the 11th, Botsford's tee shot landed four feet from the cup and he made the putt for a birdie 2, giving him a 2-up margin.

After both had teed off on the 12th, the downpour came and play was suspended. When it was resumed, Botsford had a grand chance to take a commanding lead. He was on the green of the par 5 hole in three strokes while it took Burych four strokes to hit the green.

Here, the champion faltered for the first time. He three-putted from 15 feet while his opponent took two strokes to sink the ball, giving both of them a bogie six.

Botsford stayed 2-up through the 13th and 14th, thanks to the great recovery by Burych on the 14th. On the 15th, Botsford hooked his tee shot near the rough and his chip shot was poor. Burych, playing steady if not spectacular golf, took a bogie five but cut the lead in half as Botsford was forced to settle for six.

Burych stayed in the chase by canning a 10-footer for a par on the 16th. On the 17th, Botsford missed another chance to win the match when his 4-foot try for a birdie rimmed the lip of the cup and failed to drop. This sent the match to the 18th hole and Botsford thrilled the gallery with his great recovery.

In reaching the finals, Burych disposed of Frank Bitzko, Dutchess, 1 and 3; Mark Skirrowski, Pittsfield, 6 and 5; and Ricky Barthel, Twaalfskill, 2 and 1.

Botsford won from George Hughes, Twaalfskill, 3 and 2; Ricky Bates, Stamford, 2 and 1 and Leon Randall, Wiltwyck, 1-up, in one of the best matches of the tournament.

Don Allen Seeks 3rd Men's Title

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Defending champion Don Allen of Rochester takes aim on a possible third championship when the state's top amateur golfers begin play Tuesday in the 42nd annual New York State Men's Amateur Tournament.

The field of 128, who qualified in sectional play, also was to have included Billy Tyron of Elmira, the 1962 champion, and 18-year-old Carl DiCesare of Rochester, last year's state junior champion.

Both Tyron and DiCesare withdrew, however. Tyron cited a business commitment. DiCesare gave no reason.

The men will compete over the 6,554-yard Cooperstown Country Club Course on the shores of Otsego Lake.

Par is 75-37-72 on the drought-burned layout, which has about 110 traps and bunkers on the fairways and around greens.

Allen, defending the title he won last year and in 1961, is matched against Ed Jachim of Utica in the first round.

Miss Johnson Breaks Long Distance Crown

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Defending champion Robyn Johnson, The 18-year-old swimmer for an Olympic hopeful, won the North Virginia Aquatic Club women's National A.A.U. long distance championship Sunday, 1 hour, 9 minutes and 21.9 seconds breaking her own American record for the three miles.

For every man who ever fell in love with a Jeep—a new kind of family station wagon has been born. The "Jeep" Wagoneer. It's the first station wagon ever built to offer the comfort, silence, speed and smoothness of a passenger car—plus the traction and safety of 4-wheel drive.

It's sheer pleasure to drive. Simple too. One lever puts you in 4-wheel drive. So at a second's notice you can shift into greater safety...from wheel-spinning in mud or snow...from skids on slick surfaces...from getting stuck or going out of control on the highway or off!

The Wagoneer really makes a demonstration worthwhile. It'll be your most exciting 30 minutes behind the wheel in 1964. Also in 2-wheel drive models. See your "Jeep" dealer.

Mercury Hits 101 In City to Top 5-Day Heat Wave

The current heat wave with four 90 degree plus temperatures since Wednesday pushed up to 101 Sunday for a new record, according to the City Engineer's Office.

The previous high for July 19 was 100, recorded in 1935 and 1941.

The highs for the four days were Wednesday 91, Thursday 91, Friday 94 and Saturday 97.

Dies of Crash Injuries

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) —James Miller, 20, of Orchard Park, died today in Buffalo General Hospital of injuries suffered Sunday night when an automobile left Route 20A, careened into a ditch and struck a culvert near Warsaw, in Wyoming County. He was a passenger in the car.

3,000 Visit Kingston-Point Beach Sunday

Kingston Point Beach proved to be the place Sunday during the current heat wave for a record crowd of close to 3,000 people visited the beach at some time or other during the course of the day. The picnic tables which are available to picnickers or bathers free of charge had all been claimed by 9 a. m. At 3 p. m. the parking area was filled to capacity and it was necessary to open the restricted area to the rear of the beach for the purpose of parking. This area is used as an alternate parking area but is little used. Saturday it also was filled to capacity. At the peak of the day an actual count showed that there were well over 2,000 people on the beach or in the water. The Department of Recreation issued the following statement: It is difficult to adequately administer to a crowd of this size and the Department of Recreation requests that everyone using the beach facilities obey completely the instructions of the lifeguards on duty. These lifeguards representing the department are primarily concerned with the safety of everyone in the water first and those on the beach secondly. We fully realize that at low tide the water is not too deep within the roped off area but to go beyond the ropes is dangerous not only for the person doing so but also for the guard who may have to go after he or she. First of all it is difficult to reach a person who may go under beyond the ropes. They also are in constant danger from the many boats which use the waterways as the Hudson River is a waterway used extensively by all types of boats. The department cautions that in the future anyone disobeying lifeguard instructions will be turned over to the Kingston Police Dept., the law enforcing agency in the city to be dealt with accordingly. The Guards have all they can do to properly observe the area within the ropes without having to worry about the area beyond the ropes. Safety is the keynote around a waterfront and we trust you will assist us in administering our waterfront safely.

Recreation Department Activities This Week

The Kingston Recreation Department has on tap what it considers a full schedule of activities for the Kingston Parks & Playgrounds during this week. The feature of the nocturnal schedule will be a Rock and Roll Dance tonight under the pavilion at Forsyth Park from 8 until 11. The dance postponed from last Monday will be of the live variety with musicians from Local 215 A. F. of M., under the direction of Sammy Clark, providing the music which will primarily be of the Rock and Roll type so that the teenagers of the area will be attracted to the dance.

The dance was initially set up by the Recreation Department in order that the teenager would have someplace to go where he or she could be entertained in a wholesome environment. If a need for such an activity is shown by the attendance at this dance more such dances will be scheduled in various parts of the city in the ensuing weeks. Plans are already underway for a record hop in Hutton Park in the very near future and Back to School dance is planned for Clinton Avenue between Academy Green Park and the YWCA. This dance will be jointly sponsored by the two organizations above and will be played by a well known rock and roll group.

Driver Booked After Mishap; Another Faces DD

A driver was booked on a stop-sign charge after a three-car mishap at VanBuren and Prospect Streets this morning and another was charged with driving while intoxicated after his car allegedly struck a stanchion at the uptown interchange Sunday afternoon.

Two persons reported injuries after the collision this morning and were to be treated by doctors. They were Edwin VanEtten, 58, of Prospect Street, driver of the one car, and Frank P. Cantwell, 53, of Union Center, Road, Ulster Park, driver of the other car who was charged with the stop-sign violation. He pleaded guilty in city court and was fined $10.

VanEtten reported rib injuries and Cantwell a neck injury. A parked car owned by Helen Edge, of 82 Prospect Street, was reported involved. Police said the Cantwell car, headed west on VanBuren Street, struck the left rear of the VanEtten car, hit a pole and sideswiped the parked car.

Sgt. Julius Glassman with officers Edward Ortlieb and Richard Spaulding investigated.

Ellis Weidman, 65, of 57 Hunter Street, was charged with driving while intoxicated, after his car headed north on Albany Avenue, allegedly struck a stanchion owned by the state at the uptown interchange in a mishap reported at 4:30 p. m. Sunday. Officers Frank Kennedy and Louis Sapp investigated. City court hearing was today put over to Tuesday, and bail, fixed at $200, was expected to be posted.

Po'keepsie Driver Jailed on Charge

A Poughkeepsie man, arrested Friday on a charge of driving while intoxicated with a car reported stolen from that city, was committed to the Ulster County Jail today when he admitted the traffic charge in City Court.

Judge Joseph D. Saccoman gave Donald Lindley, 45, of 13 North Hamilton Street, Poughkeepsie, the choice of paying a $100 fine or serving 20 days in jail. Unable to pay the fine immediately he was remanded to jail. Judge Saccoman also revoked his license.

Poughkeepsie city police meanwhile, filed a warrant with the Ulster County sheriff's office charging Lindley with first-degree grand larceny—a felony. They reported that a taxi cab owned by the DuBois Cab Company in that city was stolen Friday night. Local police arrested Lindley in a cab early Saturday and booked him on the drunk driving charge. They said the cab Lindley was driving was the same one reported stolen from the Poughkeepsie cab company. Lindley is employed part-time as a cab driver in Poughkeepsie.

Lindley also faces another charge of driving while intoxicated in Peace Justice Allan S. Dargie's Court, Town of Esopus. Sheriff's deputies arrested him June 7 after a vehicle he was driving struck a parked car in Port Ewen. He was free in $50 bail on that charge.

Sandwiched between Iraq and Saudi Arabia, Kuwait has an area of only 6,000 square miles.

Accepts Position As Director at University Lab

Dr. Douw S. Meyers, chairman of the Board of Managers of the Kingston City Laboratory announced today that Dr. F. William Sunderman Jr., laboratory consultant in clinical pathology has been appointed director of clinical laboratories and associate professor of pathology at the University of Florida in Gainesville, Fla.

Dr. Sunderman has been with the local laboratory since 1962. He was formerly assistant professor of medicine at the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa., consultant in clinical pathology to the Harrisburg Hospital, Harrisburg, Pa., and to the U. S. Naval Hospital in St. Albans, N. Y.

Last Saturday Sunderman conducted the last of his monthly workshops for the laboratory staff on the subject of hemoglobinometry. The programs have constituted a major teaching experience for the personnel and have assisted the staff in keeping abreast of the latest advances in laboratory medicine.

In the course of the workshop Dr. Sunderman and his staff measured the amount of iron in blood specimens and from this prepared calibration curves to express the amount of hemoglobin in the blood. In addition, methods were demonstrated to detect abnormal types of hemoglobin which might occur from exposure to carbon monoxide.

Among the 35 scientific papers and books written by Dr. Sunderman is the text published this year entitled Hemoglobin—its Precursors and Metabolites. ## Mercury Hits 101 In City to Top 5-Day Heat Wave

The current heat wave with four 90 degree plus temperatures since Wednesday pushed up to 101 Sunday for a new record, according to the City Engineer's Office.

The previous high for July 19 was 100, recorded in 1935 and 1941.

The highs for the four days were Wednesday 91, Thursday 91, Friday 94 and Saturday 97.

Dies of Crash Injuries

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — James Miller, 20, of Orchard Park, died today in Buffalo General Hospital of injuries suffered Sunday night when an automobile left Route 20A, careened into a ditch and struck a culvert near Warsaw, in Wyoming County. He was a passenger in the car.

3,000 Visit Kingston-Point Beach Sunday

Kingston Point Beach proved to be the place Sunday during the current heat wave for a record crowd of close to 3,000 people visited the beach at some time or other during the course of the day. The picnic tables which are available to picnickers or bathers free of charge had all been claimed by 9 a. m. At 3 p. m. the parking area was filled to capacity and it was necessary to open the restricted area to the rear of the beach for the purpose of parking. This area is used as an alternate parking area but is little used. Saturday it also was filled to capacity. At the peak of the day an actual count showed that there were well over 2,000 people on the beach or in the water.

The Department of Recreation issued the following statement: It is difficult to adequately administer to a crowd of this size and the Department of Recreation requests that everyone using the beach facilities obey completely the instructions of the lifeguards on duty. These lifeguards representing the department are primarily concerned with the safety of everyone in the water first and those on the beach secondly. We fully realize that at low tide the water is not too deep within the roped off area but to go beyond the ropes is dangerous not only for the person doing so but also for the guard who may have to go after he or she. First of all it is difficult to reach a person who may go under beyond the ropes. They also are in constant danger from the many boats which use the waterways as the Hudson River is a waterway used extensively by all types of boats. The Department cautions that in the future anyone disobeying lifeguard instructions will be turned over to the Kingston Police Dept., the law enforcing agency in the city to be dealt with accordingly. The Guards have all they can do to properly observe the area within the ropes without having to worry about the area beyond the ropes. Safety is the keynote around a waterfront and we trust you will assist us in administering our waterfront safely.

Our Guards have been instructed as to the peculiarities of tide water and have been experiencing particularly the effect of suction created by large ships and other quirk of the water so please obey their instructions.

Tide schedule for the coming week is as follows.

Driver Booked After Mishap; Another Faces DD

A driver was booked on a stop-sign charge after a three-car mishap at VanBuren and Prospect Streets this morning and another was charged with driving while intoxicated after his car allegedly struck a stanchion at the uptown interchange Sunday afternoon.

Two persons reported injuries after the collision this morning and were to be treated by doctors. They were Edwin Vandert, 58, of Prospect Street, driver of the one car, and Frank P. Cantwell, 53, of Union Center, Road, Ulster Park, driver of the other car who was charged with the stop-sign violation. He pleaded guilty in city court and was fined $10.

VanEtten reported rib injuries and Cantwell a neck injury. A parked car owned by Helen Edge, of 82 Prospect Street, was reported involved. Police said the Cantwell car, headed west on VanBuren Street, struck the left rear of the VanEtten car, hit a pole and sideswiped the parked car.

Sgt. Julius Glassman with officers Edward Orlieb and Richard Spaulding investigated. Ellis Weidman, 65, of 57 Hunter Street, was charged with driving while intoxicated, after his car headed north on Albany Avenue, allegedly struck a stanchion owned by the state at the uptown interchange in a mishap reported at 4:30 p. m. Sunday. Officers Frank Kennedy and Louis Sapp investigated. City court hearing was today put over to Tuesday, and bail, fixed at $200, was expected to be posted.

Accepts Position As Director at University Lab

Dr. Douw S. Meyers, chairman of the Board of Managers of the Kingston City Laboratory announced today that Dr. F. William Sunderman Jr., laboratory consultant in clinical pathology has been appointed director of clinical laboratories and associate professor of pathology at the University of Florida in Gainesville, Fla.

Dr. Sunderman has been with the local laboratory since 1962. He was formerly assistant professor of medicine at the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa., consultant in clinical pathology to the Harrisburg Hospital, Harrisburg, Pa., and to the U. S. Naval Hospital in St. Albans, N. Y.

Last Saturday Sunderman conducted the last of his monthly workshops for the laboratory staff on the subject of hemoglobinometry. The programs have constituted a major teaching experience for the personnel and have assisted the staff in keeping abreast of the latest advances in laboratory medicine.

In the course of the workshop Dr. Sunderman and his staff measured the amount of iron in blood specimens and from this prepared calibration curves to express the amount of hemoglobin in the blood. In addition, methods were demonstrated to detect abnormal types of hemoglobin which might occur from exposure to carbon monoxide. Among the 35 scientific papers and books written by Dr. Sunderman is the text published this year entitled Hemoglobin—its Precursors and Metabolites.
